Pope John Sees God Defeating Atheism

VATICAN CITY — Pope John XXIII, in an unusual talk at ceremonies at which he observed the first anniversary of his coronation, told the College of Cardinals that "atheistic and materialistic concepts of life and of history will not triumph."

The Pontiff declared that the "Spirit of truth, of union, of concord and of peace spreads itself always over the world." Christ Himself, the Holy Father noted, said: "Fear not. Have trust. I will overcome the world."

REFERRING TO his own recent discourse on the "Our Father," the Holy Father reassured that the prayer sums up "the great and sublime program that the Divine Teacher has established for the whole world."

Earlier in his talk he said that the "innumerable crowds" who have come to see him since his coronation are a "sign of the robust and perennial youth" of the Church.

Before his talk the Pope engaged in rare and good-natured repartee with Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the Sacred College, who greeted the Pope on behalf of the Cardinals.

Cardinal Tisserant made mention of the thoughts voiced by many that Pope John would be a "transition" Pope and noted that "for more than 200 years there had been no Pope over 70 elected to the Chair of Peter."

The Cardinal said the Pope's own words and actions dispelled the idea that he would be a transitional Pope and said, "Today there is no longer anyone who would dare raise a doubt."

Scholarship Ruling Given

TRENTON — The Appellate Division of Superior Court here has issued a written opinion confirming an oral opinion upholding the manner in which the Legislature adopted the college scholarship law.

Joseph M. Nolan, attorney for three citizens who challenged the method of passage, was given until Nov. 20 to decide on a possible appeal to the State Supreme Court.

MEANWHILE, the State Scholarship Commission is going ahead with plans to award scholarships to last June's graduates who are now in college.

About 2,000 applications from college freshmen were received before the application deadline passed. Under the law, 5% of the June graduates would be eligible for awards. This year that number would be 2,715. While fewer have applied not all will receive grants. The number will be whittled down because of lack of financial need and through an exam to be held Dec. 5.

Next year, as many as 3,055 awards can be given out but the actual number will depend on the scholarship funds voted by the Legislature. Dec. 12 is the final day on which high school seniors can apply for those awards.

$18 Million Lost In Church Fires

BOSTON (RNS) — Church property valued at $18,166,000 was destroyed by fires during the past year, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

The association said that defective heating systems caused the majority of fires. Incendiarists played a large part in the loss also, more so than in other types of buildings. Faulty electrical wiring was the third largest cause of fires.

Paterson Franciscan Wins New Honor

WASHINGTON — Rev. Juniper B. Carol, O.F.M., noted Marian theologian at St. Bonaventure Monastery, Paterson, has been named to receive the annual Cardinal Spellman Award given by the Catholic Theological Society of America.

Cardinal Spellman personally will make the presentation in ceremonies at Holy Name College here on Nov. 18 during the society's semi-annual board of directors meeting.

The award consists of an artistic scroll signed by the Cardinal and the president of the society, along with a gold medal and a check from a fund set up in perpetuity by the Cardinal. It is given for outstanding achievement in the field of Sacred Theology.

FATHER CAROL, a native of Cuba, entered the Franciscans in 1930 and was ordained Feb. 20, 1935. He obtained his doctorate in Sacred Theology at the Pontifical University of St. Anthony in Rome.

The Paterson priest is internationally known for his accomplishments in the Marian field. He was the founder and first president of the Mariological Society of America, and has been secretary of the organization since 1954. He is the editor of Marian Studies and of a three-volume technical work entitled Mariology. He has written three important books and some 48 articles on Mariology.

PREVIOUSLY he has been hon-

Father Carol

ored with the Marianist Award by the University of Dayton (1950), the Marian Year Medal by St. John's University (1954), and the Marian Library Medal of the University of Dayton (1958). He has been a member of the Pontifical Academy of Mariology since 1949 and of the International Mariological Commission since the same year.

Resigns as Bishop of Savannah

WASHINGTON (NC) — Pope John XXIII has given his consent to the request of Archbishop Gerald P. O'Hara, Apostolic Delegate to Great Britain, that he be permitted to resign his post as Bishop of Savannah, Ga.

The Pontiff has transferred Archbishop O'Hara, 64, to the Titular Archbishopric of Pessinus.

The Archbishop, who will retain his post in Great Britain, has been a distinguished member of the Holy See's diplomatic corps since 1947, serving as Papal representative in Bucharest, Rumania, and as Papal Nuncio to Ireland before receiving his Great Britain assignment in 1954.

He is one of two U. S. Ordinaries in the Vatican's diplomatic corps. The other is Archbishop Aloisius J. Muench, Bishop of Fargo, N. Dak., who has been Nuncio in Germany since 1951.

Little Flower Photos Found

PARIS — Between 30 and 35 photographic negatives of St. Teresa of Lisieux, the Little Flower, have been discovered in the archives of the Carmel of Lisieux. The pictures, showing St. Teresa either alone or with other Carmelites, were taken by her sister, Celine, who also was a member of the Lisieux community.

According to Brother Francois de Sainte Marie, the photographs will be incorporated in an album soon to be published with the encouragement of the Holy See.

Current pictures of the saint have been retouched and do not show her true likeness. Authorities of the Lisieux Carmel edited St. Teresa's writings and touched up her pictures to make them "sweeter."

In recent years there has been a reaction against the saccharine presentation of the saint and some photographs have appeared in which she has a severe appearance. Examination has proven that these also were retouched for special effect.

Bishops of Americas Hold Joint Meeting

WASHINGTON — The critical shortage of priests in Latin America was one of the prime topics discussed at a meeting here between 23 Bishops from the United States, Canada and Latin America.

Recommendations made at the first Inter-American Episcopal Conference were not made public. They will first be taken up by the full assembly of Bishops of the countries concerned for final ratification.

Chairman of the meeting was Cardinal Cushing. Among those attending was Archbishop Antonio Samore, secretary of the Pontifical Commission for Latin America. An agency of the Holy See, the commission was founded in 1958.

MESSAGES WERE received by attending Bishops from Pope John XXIII and Cardinal Mimmi, president of the Latin American commission.

Pope John said the Holy See is concerned that the spiritual forces of the Church in Latin America may develop with increasing vigor. This concern, he said, includes the desire that Church organization be strengthened in the face of dangers threatening Catholic traditions.

In a statement released after the three days of talks, the Bishops said the meeting was concerned not only with the clergy shortage but also with the problem of religious assistance to Latin American students in the U. S. and aid to underdeveloped Latin American countries.

Archbishop Samore, in an interview here, pointed out that Catholics in the Americas total more than 210 million and thus comprise "half of the membership of the Catholic Church." Noting that the "potential is enormous," he asked that American Catholics be conscious of their responsibilities to help each other.

Pope Urges Faith in Church's Apostolate

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John XXIII has urged French pilgrims including Bishops, priests and parliamentarians, to "have faith in the apostolate of the Church." The pilgrims were led by Cardinal Feilin of Paris.

The Pope, speaking in French, recalled the years he spent in France as Apostolic Nuncio, and said that Frenchmen still hold a place of honor in his heart.

He said that when he gave his first blessing to the world as Pope the words of the blessing opened "a great vision of light, of security and of peace."

After quoting the prayer "May the Holy Apostles Peter and Paul, in whose power we trust, intercede for us with the Lord," he said:

"It is on these two foundations — St. Peter and Paul — that the Church of Christ rests; and the forces of hell will not prevail against them. Twenty centuries have proved the solidity of this power and authority of the Church of Rome. There have been many attempts to demolish it or weaken it; they have never succeeded. Do you think they will succeed in the future?"

"Christ said: 'Take courage, I have overcome the world.'"

"THE SEARCH for material possessions, the spirit of domination, the immoderate gratification of the flesh were often powerful temptations. Wherever they triumphed there was only ruin and massacre. Every nation has experienced these kinds of tempests, and the various epochs of history were marked with adversity. But the Christian Faith was the sign of glory and of victory where it resisted."

"Beloved brothers and sons, continue to trust St. Peter and Paul. Have faith in the apostolate of the Church."

In what appeared to be an indirect reply to elements in France which have not accepted gracefully the Holy See's ban on the priest worker experiment, Pope John recalled an incident from the life of Pope Leo XIII.

To a group of people who apparently hesitated to accept certain points of doctrine and discipline, Pope Leo said: "Come now... Have you no faith in the Pope?"

President Plans To Visit Pontiff

WASHINGTON — In a prepared statement which he read at a news conference here, President Eisenhower announced plans for a trip abroad during which he would visit Pope John XXIII.

His news conference was held the same day that the Washington diplomatic corps attended a Mass at Trinity College to mark the first anniversary of the Holy Father's coronation. The Mass was offered by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the U. S.

Bishop Jerome D. Hannan of Scranton gave the sermon at the Mass, which was also attended by American, Canadian and Latin American prelates in Washington for a meeting on Latin American problems.

THERE WAS NO immediate confirmation by the White House of a report by the Vatican City daily, Osservatore Romano, that the visit will take place on Dec. 6 before the President leaves Rome. The Chief Executive will make Rome his first stop during the 2 1/2-week tour.

When the President meets the Holy Father it will not be as a stranger. They met informally at official functions in Paris nearly 15 years ago when Gen. Eisenhower had his headquarters there and the Pope was serving as Papal Nuncio to

THE FORTHCOMING meeting with Pope John will be history-making because it will mark only the second time that a Pope received an American President who was still in office. The first occasion was on Jan. 4, 1913, when Pope Benedict XV received President Woodrow Wilson, former New Jersey Governor.

Shrine to Mary To Be Blessed

NEWARK — As Catholic America's shrine to Mary, its patroness, is dedicated in Washington, D.C., with colorful ceremonies Nov. 20, Catholics of North Jersey, as well of the entire United States, will participate in their parish churches.

The National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in the nation's capitol will be dedicated by Cardinal Spellman of New York Friday morning when he will celebrate a solemn Pontifical Mass to begin three days of ceremonies in the huge upper church. At the same time the more than 39 million Catholics of the U. S. will be consecrated to Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception, who was named patroness of the nation by the Bishops of the United States 113 years ago.

In the Newark Archdiocese and the Paterson Diocese special three-day devotions have been decreed by Archbishop Boland and Bishop McNulty in connection with the dedication of the shrine and the consecration of Americans to Mary.

Observing in a letter to be read in all parishes this Sunday that "every true client of Mary will wish to join in this national tribute to Mary," Archbishop Boland calls for "a triduum of prayers to Mary Immaculate" to be held in every parish and mission church of the Archdiocese Nov. 18, 19 and 20. The prayers, he says, will consist of recitation of the Rosary and Act of Consecration to Our Lady, and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

The Archbishop also reveals in the letter that a special collection for the National Shrine will be taken up in all churches Nov. 22.

BISHOP McNULTY has granted permission for an evening Mass in any church or mission of the Paterson Diocese on Nov. 20, the same day on which Cardinal Cushing of Boston will preside and preach at an evening Mass (at 8 p.m.) in the National Shrine.

The Bishop has also granted permission for the celebration of Benediction in every church on Nov. 18, 19 and 20. In a letter from the Paterson diocesan director of the National Shrine committee, Rev. Frank J. Rodimer, Bishop McNulty gave pastors the choice of holding the triduum in honor of the Immaculate Conception on Nov. 18-20 in preparation for the dedication of the Shrine, or of combining this devotion with the annual triduum required by diocesan statute to precede the feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8.

Bishop McNulty also called for the recitation of the Act of Consecration after every Mass Nov. 20.

ARCHBISHOP BOLAND and Bishop McNulty will attend the dedication ceremonies at the National Shrine, as will Auxiliary Bishops Stanton and Curtis of Newark.

The four Cardinals of the U. S. will participate in the three-day dedication ceremonies. In addition to Cardinal Spellman who will preside at the dedication, and Cardinal Cushing who will preside at the evening Mass, both on Nov. 20, Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles will celebrate a solemn Pontifical Mass for religious the morning of Nov. 21, and Cardinal O'Hara of Philadelphia will preside at a Solemn Pontifical Mass for the laity the afternoon of Nov. 22.

Cardinals from Mexico and China — Cardinal Garibi y Rivera of Guadalajara, and Cardinal Tien of Peking — as well as Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the U. S., over 200 U. S. Archbishops and Bishops, and Bishops from Canada, Mexico, Ireland, Lithuania and the Bahamas, will attend the letter to be read at all masses on Nov. 15 follows: Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis, chairman of the Bishops' Committee for the shrine, will preach at the dedication Mass Nov. 20. Bishop Bernard J. Flanagan of Worcester, Mass., will be celebrant of the evening Mass Nov. 20. Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati will preach at the Nov. 21 Mass. Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona of Green Bay, Wis., will be celebrant, and Bishop Charles P. Greco of Alexandria, La., will preach, at the Mass Nov. 22.

THE MAIN ALTAR was dedicated Nov. 7 by Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, chairman of the executive committee of the shrine. The altar stone, it was revealed, contains a relic of St. Pius X, one of the early benefactors of the shrine, along with the required relics of two martyrs.

Also scheduled to attend the dedication are an Archbishop and six Abbots, superiors of many religious communities, heads of universities, and diplomatic, government and civic officials.

Among the benefactors present will be Luke E. Hart, Supreme Knight, and members of the board of directors of the Knights of Columbus, which contributed $1 million for the construction of the shrine's bell tower.

The choir for the dedication will be made up of 150 members of 22 religious houses of study for men affiliated with Catholic University.

THE NATIONAL Shrine was begun 39 years ago, but consisted only of a subterranean crypt church until work on the superstructure was begun in 1954. It is the substantial completion of the superstructure which will be celebrated with the dedication Nov. 20. Details of the interior remain to be completed.

The shrine is being built through the support of Catholics throughout the U. S. under direction of their Bishops. Cardinal Spellman is president of the board of trustees, of which Archbishop Boland is a member. Msgr. Thomas J. Grady is director of the shrine.

Outlines Good Cabbies Can Do

SYDNEY, Australia (NC) — Auxiliary Bishop James Freeman of Sydney told taxicab drivers at a Communion breakfast that their cabs are a "little world" in which they can exert "a great force for good."

Bishop Freeman told the taxi drivers they "are an integral and important part of the life" of Sydney. "In proportion as you show forth in your work the priceless attributes of honesty, integrity and politeness," he said, "you will be a great force for good, and the thousands who ride with you — while they will never know your name — will quite often recall with pleasure the words you said and the influence you had on them."

letter to be read Nov. 15 follows:

"A significant page will be added to the glorious history of the Church in America on Friday, Nov. 20, at the nation's capitol. On that day, the more than 39 million Catholics of the country will be solemnly consecrated to the Immaculate Mother of God. At the same time, the beautiful and magnificent upper church of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception will be dedicated."

"Our Blessed Mother, under the title of the Immaculate Conception, is the patroness of our land. The name of Mary and the powerful influence of her intercession have been intimately entwined in the history of the growth of the Church in the United States. Filial personal devotion to Our Lady is a recognized characteristic of our people."

"Every true client of Mary will wish to join in this national tribute to Mary. In order that all our people may participate — a triduum of prayers to Mary Immaculate will be held in every parish and mission church in the Archdiocese on Nov. 18, 19 and 20. The devotions will consist of the recitation of the Rosary, the Act of Consecration to Our Lady and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament."

"On next Sunday, Nov. 22, a special collection for the National Shrine will be taken up at all Masses in every parish and mission church. Envelopes for this collection are being distributed today."

"We are confident that our people will joyfully and generously join in this national tribute of devotion, love and honor to Mary Immaculate."

"May Our Blessed Lady continue her benign protection over all of us."

Hail Baltimore On Anniversary

BALTIMORE (NC) — Pope John XXIII, President Eisenhower and the Apostolic Delegate to the U. S. have sent messages marking the 150th anniversary of the Baltimore Archdiocese and the Nov. 15 dedication of its new cathedral by the Apostolic Delegate.

Pope John extended his blessing to Archbishop Francis P. Keough of Baltimore, to the clergy and laity of the country's premier See and to "all those who will share in the approaching celebration."

Surveying some of the landmarks in the history of the archdiocese, the Pope recalled that 10 provincial councils and three plenary councils of the Church in the U. S. have been held in Baltimore.

He also pointed out that the Catholic University of America and the National Catholic Welfare Conference were established in the Baltimore Archdiocese.

(With the establishment of the Archdiocese of Washington in 1939, both institutions came within the boundaries of that See.)

The Pope further praised the achievements of historic Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, Md. Established in 1791, it was the first seminary in the United States.

FATHER GANNON HONORED: Cardinal Spellman congratulates Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S.J., former president of St. Peter's College and Fordham University, after two plaques were unveiled in his honor at the 17th annual Jesuit mission benefit dinner in New York.

Jesuits in Tribute To Father Gannon

NEW YORK — Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S.J., former president of St. Peter's College and Fordham University, was honored at the 17th annual Jesuit mission benefit dinner here.

Cardinal Spellman, whose presence was not announced in advance, gave a special citation to Father Gannon, now superior of Rene Goupil House in New York.

IN ADDITION, two plaques were unveiled in Father Gannon's honor. One is to be installed in the chapel of a new seminary in Manila and the other in a student chapel in a high school in the Carolinas.

Also honored at the dinner was Msgr. Edward E. Swanson, executive director of Catholic R. & S. Services-NCWC. He was given the annual Xavier Award for outstanding contributions to the missions by Very Rev. Thomas E. Henneberry, S.J., Jesuit Provincial.

Chancery Says:

Warsaw Lights Not Apparition

WARSAW — The Chancery Office here has declared that the strange light which illuminated the tower of St. Augustine's Church for a number of nights last month was a "natural phenomenon."

The Chancery statement was read in all the churches of the Polish capital and followed an investigation carried on by Church authorities.

Catholics were asked not to visit St. Augustine's but to attend services in their own churches as the throngs at St. Augustine's were hindering "normal pastoral occupation."

The light above St. Augustine's first appeared on Oct. 7, the Feast of the Holy Rosary. Described as a "luminous figure," it brought about rumors that it was an apparition of the Blessed Virgin. Tens of thousands of people thronged the vicinity of the church for several nights afterward.

Teenage Marriages Add To Diocesan Court Cases

LOS ANGELES — Teenage marriages have caused a great increase in the work of diocesan matrimonial tribunals in recent years, according to Msgr. John D. Conway, retiring president of the Canon Law Society of America. He presided at the society's annual meeting here.

"If 16-year-olds stopped getting married, 20 to 25% of our marriage cases would be eliminated," he said. "Maturity of outlook, responsibility and emotional response are requisite to good marriages. Most teenagers do not have this maturity and many of their marriages go on the rocks."

Msgr. Conway also said that adult Catholics seem to have a little more lax attitude toward the sacredness of marriage. While regulations dealing with matrimony are only a small part of the Code of Canon Law, he said, marriage problems provide the bulk of the work for canon lawyers assigned to various diocesan chanceries and courts.

Other speakers at the convention included Rev. Nicholas Gill, C.P., of St. Michael's, Union City.

Msgr. E. Robert Arthur of Washington was elected president of the society. Other new officers are Rev. Richard Rosemeyer, Chicago, vice president; Rev. Joseph Konrad, Brooklyn, secretary; and Rev. Clement Bastnagel, Washington, treasurer. Delegates chose Philadelphia for their 1960 convention.

THE VATICAN CITY daily, Osservatore Romano, was originally started by laymen and bought by Pope Leo XIII in 1890.

Grand Jury Indicts In Obscenity Case

NEWARK — A Maplewood man who operates a second-hand book store at 295 Market St. here has been indicted by the Essex County Grand Jury on charges of possessing obscene literature with intent to sell it. At the same time, three newsdealers faced with the same charges had their cases held over for the grand jury by Newark Municipal Court.

In another development, owners of 32 city-licensed newsstands were warned that they face the loss of their licenses if found in violation of city ordinances against display or sale of obscene material.

Indicted by the grand jury was Alex Kaplan of 17 Berkshire Rd., Maplewood. He was arrested Oct. 9 by sheriff's detectives.

HELD FOR grand jury action by Chief Magistrate Nicholas

Chicago to Keep Nativity Scene

CHICAGO (NC) — The custom of portraying the Nativity in the City Hall lobby during Christmas time will continue, Mayor Richard Daley has announced. Objections had been made by officials of several Jewish and other groups.

"I don't see why we should stop something like this," said Mayor Daley. "We are a Christian nation. While I can agree that religion and government shouldn't mix, the more religion we get into politics the better off we are. If other religious groups want to come in with a portrayal, they'll get consideration."

CCD Training Course Begins 2nd Sessions

NEWARK — The second part of the teacher training course sponsored by the archdiocesan confraternity of Christian Doctrine will begin Nov. 12 at 8:15 p.m. in four centers in the Archdiocese:

Seton Hall University (science building), South Orange; St. Anastasia's School, Teaneck; St. Peter's College, (Dinneen Hall), Jersey City; and Immaculate Conception School, Elizabeth.

The teacher training course is offered to those who wish to obtain a teaching certificate qualifying them to teach religion in the parish confraternity school. The course began on Oct. 1, with two courses in methods of instruction, one for high school, the other for grammar school.

New registrants will be accepted for the doctrine course. Those who wish to qualify for a teaching certificate may take the methods course next Fall.

Teachers already engaged in Confraternity work are also invited to take the course as a refresher. There is no tuition.

The doctrine course will be given by Rev. Vincent Affanoso at Seton Hall; Rev. James Pin-dar, in Teaneck; Rev. James Reilly in Jersey City; and Rev. Joseph Sherer in Elizabeth.

Priest to Direct Mountain Climb

PARIS (RNS) — A parish priest in a Pyrenees village will head next year's French expedition to the Himalayas that will attempt to scale the 23,000 feet Jalu Peak.

Leadership of the expedition was given by the Paris Himalayan Committee to 30-year-old Abbe Andre Armengaud who began his climbing career at the age of 12.

THE PRIEST, who does a short daily climb after Mass every morning, is now training himself to scale the needle peaks of Jalu by climbing the walls and buttresses of his church in Garin, near Luchon.

He has actually been preparing for the Himalaya trip for several years.

The preparation has meant learning English as well as some Hindustani so he can talk to the sherpas, or Hindu guides.

Archbishop Tells Serrans:

Greatest Need Is To Live the Gospel

EAST ORANGE — The greatest need in the world today is that those who would spread the faith live the Gospel, for the example of their actions will speak louder than their words.

This is the message Archbishop Boland gave members of the Serra Club of the Oranges Nov. 9. The Serrans held their annual Archbishop's Night dinner at the Hotel Suburban here.

In his talk, the Archbishop reported on his recent conversations with Pope John XXIII and Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the U.S. In both instances the topic included Catholic Action in general and vocations work in particular.

THIS IS THE Age of Mary, the Archbishop told his listeners, and he conveyed to them the Holy Father's wish that the faithful sanctify themselves and do all in their power to help Our Lady bring the world back to Christ.

On behalf of the Orange Serrans, William J. Grady, president, presented the Archbishop with a purse of $500. The Archbishop indicated he would turn it over to Msgr. William F. Furlong, archdiocesan director of vocations, to be used for that work.

The Serra Club of the Oranges also presented a first edition copy of "Incunabula," the writings of St. Thomas More, to the Seton Hall University School of Law. The gift was accepted by Dr. Miriam T. Rooney, dean of the law school.

THE PONTIFICAL Commission for Motion Pictures, Radio and Television was instituted by Pope Pius XII in 1948.

Franciscan Third Order Meets Nov. 15

PATERSON — The annual Congress of the 20 fraternities of the Third Order of St. Francis in the Paterson Diocese will be held Nov. 15 at the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist here.

Bishop McNulty has convoked the Congress, following a precedent set by the late Bishop McLaughlin in 1938. He will preside, impart the indulgenced blessing and celebrate Benediction.

The welcoming address will be given by Rev. Joseph Piasta, O.F.M. Conv., provincial commissary, of Granby, Mass. The sermon will be preached by Very Rev. George Roskewitski, O.F.M. Conv., minister provincial.

MORE THAN 1,500 Franciscan tertiaries will assemble at 3 p.m.

at Entre Nous Hall, St. John's Hall and St. Michael's hall to march in procession to the Cathedral.

The meeting will open at 3:30 p.m. with renewal of profession. Fraternities from Fair Lawn, Wyckoff, Newark and Jersey City will attend.

Rev. Simon Quigg, O.F.M., guardian of St. Bonaventure's Monastery, is diocesan director of the Third Order.

Dominican Guild To Hold Barn Dance

JERSEY CITY — A barn dance and country fair will be held Nov. 20 at Jersey City Garden, sponsored by the Hudson County committee of the Dominican Guild.

The Dominican Guild is a group of laymen organized to help the Dominican Sisters of Caldwell build the new infirmary for sick and aged Sisters.

John M. Deegan is general chairman.

Hudson Puerto Rican Center Is Featured in 'America'

NEW YORK — The activities and success of El Centro Catolico de Informacion (Catholic Information Center) for Puerto Ricans in Jersey City is the subject of a detailed article in the Nov. 14 America, Jesuit weekly.

Written by Rev. Joseph Hernandez, S.J., a native of Jersey City, now teaching in Puerto Rico, the article shows the influence and growth of the center, founded in 1954. Its present director is Rev. Joseph Faulkner, S.J., of St. Peter's Church.

"Puerto Rican baptisms," says Father Hernandez, "have risen from 38 in 1954 to 186 during 1958. Similarly Puerto Rican marriages have risen from four during 1954 to 50 during 1958."

The new center, opened in 1957, is located at Newark and Barrow Sts. Staffed by laymen, it is opened daily from 3 to 11 p.m. (later for social events on Saturdays). There newly arrived Puerto Ricans can get help to solve nearly all problems, including financial ones, as the center has its own credit union.

Language Workshop Attracts 103 Charity Nuns, Lay Teachers

WESTFIELD — The building of Babel may have been simplified considerably if the ancients had had the Sisters of Charity to help them bridge the language barrier. Proof of this was Saturday's Foreign Language Workshop at Holy Trinity High School, attended by 103 language teachers in 20-booth language laboratory.

The lab installation was completed a few weeks ago, using the largest portion of a $10,641 National Defense Education Act loan to the school.

SISTER MIRIAM Bernard, Holy Trinity's principal, opened the workshop, and Sister M. Alexandra, supervisor of schools for the Sisters of Charity, welcomed the language teachers.

In a three-part concurrent series of workshops, Spanish, French and Latin language teaching was explored. Conducting the Spanish workshops were Sister Maria Rosa, St.

Aloysius Academy, Jersey City, and Sister Maria, Holy Trinity. On the French program were: Sister Gertrude de Sales, Marylawn of the Oranges, South Orange; Sister Marion Francis, Bayley-Ellard, Madison, and Sister Anne Miriam, St. Cecilia's, Englewood.

The Latin session featured: Sister Irene Margaret, principal of Bayley-Ellard; Sister Anne Bernadette, St. Vincent's Academy, Newark; Sister Anna David and Sister Patricia Claire, St. Peter's, New Brunswick; Sister Joseph Dolores, Sacred Heart Academy, Hoboken, and Sister Michael Eucharis, Marylawn.

SISTERS OF CHARITY high schools which have language labs include Marylawn, where an 18-booth setup is being used by 157 students for French and 110 for Latin, and St. Cecilia's, which has 10 booths used by a total of 466 students who take Latin, Spanish and French. St. Cecilia's lab is equipped with 12 portable sets of earphones for class use. At Holy Trinity 169 students take Spanish, 107 French, and 350 Latin.

When the workshop participants viewed Trinity's lab they saw 20 booths equipped with headsets and microphones in which students play magnetic tapes prepared by the teacher and repeat her pronunciation which is recorded on the same tape for later evaluation.

The teacher may listen in via her console, correcting students on the spot, or speaking to the entire group. She may also record separately any corrections she would like to make later.

"The laboratory is especially helpful to students who have talent for facility in the language," Sister Miriam Bernard points out. She said that use of the lab as a student might use a library for extra work gives the student about 10 times the amount of oral drill he would get ordinarily and makes it possible for him to become fluent in the language by listening and repeating.

Most of the teachers at Saturday's workshop agreed with her opinion that "the laboratory lessons, supplemented by classroom study in the language, provide the quickest and most effective modern method of learning a language."

READY AS ALWAYS: This is the interior of St. Stanislaus Church, Newark, whose parishioners will be celebrating Nov. 15. The occasion is the 70th anniversary of the founding of the parish. Rev. Adalbert F. Kiczek is pastor.

St. Stanislaus Parish Marks 70th Year

NEWARK — A double observance will mark the 70th anniversary of the founding of St. Stanislaus (Polish) parish Nov. 15.

At 10:30 a.m., Rev. Adalbert F. Kiczek, pastor since July 16, 1948, will celebrate a High Mass of Thanksgiving.

The sermon will be preached by Rev. Anthony Guzik, S.D.B., of Don Bosco High School, Ramsey.

In the evening, the parishioners and their friends will gather for an anniversary banquet in Polish Falcons-Veteran Hall, S. 20th St.

Speakers will include Rev. Stanley J. Adamczyk, Immaculate Conception Seminary; Mayor Leo P. Carlin of Newark; Walter Laskowski for the parishioners; Deputy Police Chief August Rauscher; Anna Wojtkowski for the women's organizations; Ray E. Wozniak for the parish youth and Father Kiczek.

Stephen J. Lorenz will be toastmaster, and Charles Smyka, chairman. Dancing will follow the dinner.

Father Kiczek

until 1901 when the present church with its dominant tall steeple was built.

THE SCHOOL and convent were erected in 1893. Prior to that time the Felician Sisters of Lodi conducted classes in rooms in the rectory. The rectory itself is a 70-year-old former dwelling, completely remodeled and expanded in 1940.

In the course of its history 11 young men of the parish have gone on to the priesthood and 28 young women have found their vocations in various religious orders. The parish now has 1,100 families with 140 children in the school.

Father Kiczek, present pastor, was ordained on June 8, 1930, in St. Patrick's Pro-Cathedral, Newark. After ordination he served as assistant for 18 years at Sacred Heart, Irvington, until his appointment as pastor of St. Stanislaus in 1948. He installed a new roof on the church in 1949; acquired five lots in 1954 which were turned into a parking area; and in 1957 renovated the interiors of both the church and school.

Newarkers at Deaf Session

NEWARK — Rev. John P. Hourihan and Dr. Thomas Mahoney are participating in the workshop on "Psychological Assessment of the Deaf" being held at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., Nov. 9-13. Father Hourihan, director of the archdiocesan Apostolate for the Deaf, and Dr. Mahoney, staff psychologist of the Catholic Guidance Center here, are among 21 psychologists and experts on deaf education from 11 states who are participating.

The first of its kind, the workshop is sponsored by the department of psychiatry and psychology of Catholic University under a grant by the U.S. Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Opening talks stressed the need for more psychologists interested in the problems of the deaf. One speaker said not more than 10 psychologists in the U.S. fully understand the deaf.

Workshop sessions covered special problems and techniques in assessment of deafness, neurological and physical aspects of deafness; personality, education and family problems associated with deafness, and concepts of rehabilitation.

Father Hourihan is the only priest attending.

Parishes Active In Cana Events

PATERSON — A Cana council was formed recently at Blessed Sacrament parish under direction of Rev. Thomas Trapasso. Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. John Samolowitz.

Others on the council in charge of various activities are: Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Barone, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Villani, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Carlo, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Saccamanno, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Maletta, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cuccinella, Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Tavoletta, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morley.

JERSEY CITY — Mr. and Mrs. Night for all married couples of Our Lady of Victories parish is being sponsored by the Cana group Nov. 27 at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Dancing will be included.

BLOOMFIELD — The annual supper dance sponsored by the Cana group of Sacred Heart parish will be held Nov. 13 at Crystal Lake Casino, West Orange. A specialty dance program will be presented by Arthur Murray's Dance Studio.

PATERSON — St. Bonaventure's parish will hold a Mr. and Mrs. Night Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. in the parish hall for all married couples of the parish. Dancing will be a feature of the evening, for which the chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Al Piratzky.

For Career Girls Who Think: 'Maybe I Should Be a Nun...'

NEWARK — Are you a career girl, in your late teens, 20s, 30s or older? Have you been thinking lately that the life of a Sister might be for you? If so, you will fit perfectly into a new group forming — an informal, informative group to be composed of gals who have the same leanings as you do.

The group will meet for the first time Nov. 22 at the Mt. Carmel Guild headquarters, 99 Central Ave., at 2:30 p.m.

MSGR. WILLIAM F. Furlong, director of the archdiocesan Apostolate for Vocations, is organizing the project in response to popular demand, which began with a letter to The Advocate from a young business woman. Since that letter Msgr. Furlong has heard from a number of career girls who look up from the blackboard, the typewriter, the test tube or the adding machine and think, "Maybe I should be a nun."

"Existing programs of the Apostolate for Vocations bring a consideration of vocations to the religious life to the attention of girls in grammar and high school and to Confraternity of Christian Doctrine groups," comments Msgr. Furlong. "This newest project of the Apostolate plans to bring study of vocations to young women who are no longer in school. Older women who are still eligible for admission to religious communities will also be welcome."

(The age limit set by most communities of Sisters is 30 or 35, he said, but some admit candidates in their 40s and even 50s.)

"THE MEETINGS will be not so much for girls who have made up their minds to enter religious life, but for those who have been thinking about it," Msgr. Furlong explained.

"The meetings will discuss the meaning of a vocation, the various aspects of religious life, the many religious communities and their work and requirements, the importance of a deeper spiritual life as a means for determining the possibility of future perseverance in religious life," he noted.

The meetings will be informal, Msgr. Furlong stressed, and occasionally members will hear talks by Sisters from various congregations.

BEFORE LAUNCHING the new plan, Msgr. Furlong made a few investigations, upturning the interesting fact that some congregations get as many as one-third of the novices from the business world, rather than from school or college. Another statistic, the need for about 2,000 additional Sisters by congregations supplying the Archdiocese of Newark, proved to Msgr. Furlong that no stone should be left unturned in finding the women meant to fill this need.

"It is hoped that many of these will be found among the young business women of the Archdiocese," he said.

An Heir to Tradition

Twelve men in the past 103 years have directed the destiny of Seton Hall. Under the leadership of these men, dedicated priests, Seton Hall has grown from a tiny rural institution into a great far-flung metropolitan university, a university whose sons animate and inspire much of the life of this state. Each of these 12 men has been great in his own way and his own time. From Bishop McQuaid, who worked with Bishop Bayley to bring education into a wilderness, down through Bishop McLaughlin who with the inspiration of Archbishop Walsh gained the scholastic recognition that was Seton Hall's by achievement, to the late and lamented Magr. McNulty who with the guidance and approval of Archbishop Boland began a new era that founded new schools and carried education into areas hitherto undreamed of, the work of the presidents of Seton Hall has been phenomenal. The work of these men was blessed with the increase that only Divine approval can bestow.

Now the 13th president assumes the responsibility so heroically borne by those who have preceded him. He has the confidence of the Archbishop, as evidenced by his appointment; he has waiting for him a group of devoted priests, successors of those others who for 103 years have carried the ideals and the aims of the presidents of the past into the classrooms; he has the expectant attention of the lay faculty; he has the ready devotion that is so characteristic of the young men and women of the student body; he has the good will that Seton Hall has won for her leaders; he has the fervent wishes of the host of friends that his own priestliness has earned.

Magr. John J. Dougherty, the 13th president of Seton Hall, will have need of them all. It is not necessary to look to the traditions of the past to see what he must equal. It is enough to look into the future, a future dominated by the threat of secularism in education, a future foreshadowed by a fight for the minds and hearts of men, and know that his is the task of rejecting this domination and winning the fight for the Kingdom of Christ.

Magr. Dougherty brings with him wisdom and a skill that is not inept for the task. He will bring new luster to the name of Seton Hall. The University will in turn add new luster to his. A son returns to his Alma Mater. The mother who taught him receives him once again. He will pass down a long corridor and from the walls the eyes of the presidents of the past will watch him. They will know that he is taking his way along the paneled hall, as they so often did, to the chapel, the heart of the university. There they once found strength and wisdom, inspiration and courage. There he will find it as well. The Advocate echoes the prayers and good wishes of all the Archdiocese: May God guard him; May God guide him!

Civil Rights Cult

A few weeks ago the world lost a man who had been very prominent on the stage and screen. Many people said that the life which he led offstage was as flamboyant as the swash-buckling roles that he portrayed for his audiences. To put it mildly, he led a gay life.

Among the many legends and stories that he left behind was a terse statement he once made that is a capsule form of his philosophy of life: "I have lived hard — I have spent hard — and I have behaved as I darned (he also chose a stronger word) well chose."

There are many others who may not have been as blunt or as outspoken as he was, but who have followed the same pagan, hedonistic creed. The most prolific source of such extravagant searches for sensual pleasure seems to be the field of entertainment, where stars and near-stars make fabulous salaries and embark on wild sprees and frolics where moderation and morals are cast to the winds. They often make the front page with unsavory headlines, their divorces are almost as frequent as their marriages, and they show utter contempt for common laws of modesty, propriety and sobriety.

When a man says that he behaves as he feels free to defy the laws of God and man.

This might well be an unfortunate outgrowth of the fanatical, intemperate tribute that we are paying to civil rights in this country. We decry the evils of the past, we condemn bitterly the slavery and its concomitant evils that are a blot on human history, we damn all dictators in no uncertain terms for the ruthless manner in which they demanded obedience and subservience. And then we proceed to gravitate or even leap to the other extreme and defy all lawful authority. Civil rights have become some kind of a golden calf, before whom we bow and scrape in abject tribute.

Parents throw up their hands in despair, and confess that they have no control over their teenage children. Pupils in classrooms show absolutely no respect for their teachers, and do not hesitate to lay violent hands upon them if they try to enforce discipline and maintain order. Both the children in the home and the pupils in the classrooms are continually proclaiming that they have their rights that must be respected.

Lawyers who are well indoctrinated in the art of boisterous and unethical defense, and who know all the loopholes in the law and all the short cuts, are able to stand in court and obtain the dismissal of charges that would have meant sure conviction in days gone by.

"Lady Chatterley's Lover," one of the filthiest books ever written or published, is now in circulation by the millions, because the defense lawyers shouted that to ban this book would be a flagrant violation of the freedom of press that is guaranteed by our Constitution.

This swaggering concept of freedom and liberty has even invaded the sacred precinct of the church and religion. The Catholic Church is unpopular in many quarters because she demands obedience and respect for her laws. People do not want to be restricted in their way of life, even when their ideas clash with the Ten Commandments. One half-brained fanatic wanted to know if Senator Kennedy, if he were elected President, would protect his right to sin.

These misguided people seem to forget that no man has the moral right to do as he pleases, that no man is morally free to defy the laws of God or of lawfully constituted civil authority.

TV Searches Its Soul

Since rigged quiz shows, and commercials which "exaggerate, irritate and nauseate" aren't the only things wrong with TV, we fervently hope that the medium will not overlook its other, hardly less serious, shortcomings during the agonizing self-appraisal which is now under way.

To help make their examination of conscience and resolutions of amendment complete, those who are responsible for what appears on our TV screens should read and ponder the symposium edited back in 1954 by Joseph Wood Krutch, under the title "Is the Common Man Too Common? An Informal Survey of Our Cultural Resources and What We Are Doing About Them."

In this work Dr. Krutch, formerly a professor at Columbia University, and 11 fellow contributors probed the failure of our communications media to consider the culture needs of the American public. Their conclusion was, in effect, that TV and other communications media tend to let the lowest common denominator in our population determine the standards of excellence in the communication arts.

In adopting such standards, the book asserts, TV, radio, etc., give a "monopoly" to "the purveyors of mediocrity." There is not enough "stratification," not enough provision made by the communications media for the different levels of intelligence and of interest.

According to Dr. Krutch, in aiming at the low I. Q.'s the communications media underestimate the American public. They just don't know what has happened in the United States—"ours is the most cultured nation which ever existed."

The most cultured ever? Perhaps, perhaps not.

But certainly "the common man" is not as common as our communications media suppose him to be, and the American TV public deserves and would appreciate something better than a steady diet of "Westerns" and "Private Eyes"—this year (ironically enough, the very one which saw the elimination of the distinguished "Firestone Hour") there's a bumper crop of both.

Quite obviously, the strictures and constructive criticisms of Dr. Krutch and his colleagues have fallen on deaf ears. Here, then, is an area for serious soul-searching and reform on the part of the TV industry, an area which it alone — and no governmental policing agency — can regulate.

Communism vs. Capitalism?

No doubt, a great many people in the Soviet Union go to bed every night imagining that the world is locked in a cosmic struggle between communism and capitalism. It is questionable, however, whether this confusion extends to the top echelons of the Soviet Union, or, for that matter, to anybody within bowing distance of them. The privileged classes in Russia are not stupid, whatever else they may be, and only the most slow-witted (or brainwashed) of men could believe that the struggle between the Soviet Empire and the free world is being waged over the outmoded 19th-century categories of Karl Marx.

We were reminded of this recently by an article of Adolf A. Berle Jr., which appeared in the New York Times Magazine for Nov. 1. Mr. Berle lucidly argued that so far as the United States is concerned the capitalism which Karl Marx excoriated, and which he predicted would inevitably be replaced by communism, no longer exists. The changes which have occurred over the last generation or two, he asserts, have so transformed the capitalist system that we are now being pressed to find a new word to describe it. (Some writers, he notes, call it "people's capitalism," and the Jesuit scholar, Rev. Paul Harbrecht, in a book to be published shortly, uses the formidable term "paraproprietary society.")

According to Mr. Berle, three developments were mainly responsible for the evolution of American capitalism. These were the change in the character of the corporation, the rise of the trade unions and the expanded role of government in economic affairs.

From a tightly held individual and family affair, the corporation has evolved into a "socialized" institution. Most of the corporations whose stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and which account for about three-fourths of all industrial production, are administered and controlled, not by family and individual owners, but by professional managers. Their income is distributed, according to the Stock Exchange, to 12.5 million individual stockholders and to a large number of pension trusts, mutual funds and insurance companies. This is a change, writes Mr. Berle, which no Marxist could have foreseen.

Neither, for that matter, could Marxists have foreseen the rise of a strong labor movement dedicated to gaining for workers a fair share of the national income rather than to class warfare and revolution. Having achieved a high standard of living, our workers simply refuse to look upon themselves as proletarians.

Nor, finally, did the American Government play the role assigned by Marx to all capitalist governments. It refused to be the servant of the "ownership" class and instead set about, especially under Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt, developing a "socially directed commonwealth." To a considerable extent it has succeeded.

Just as capitalism no longer fits the Marxist image, neither does communism. What exists in Russia today is not an economic society in which equality is realized, but one in which the gap between upper classes and workers is wider than it is in capitalist societies. It is a society in which the state, far from withering away, completely controls and dominates the people. . . . America.

Gift of the People

Communists Admit Role They Are Playing in Cuba

By Louis Francis Budenz

The more the world crisis deepens, the more is its depth being hidden by Soviet sophistry and its appeasement allies. This cover-up is evident in each of the weekly editions of the Moscow New Times for September and October. . . .

The theme is that Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the U.S. has opened an era of "peace" on Soviet terms, leading inevitably to the world triumph of communism.

What might be called the text on which communists are to proceed is given in No. 37. There an article, "On Peaceful Coexistence," written for the American quarterly, Foreign Affairs, is presented as giving the spirit of the whole Khrushchev expedition.

AS AN INDEX of the "peace" we are to get, emphasis is placed upon the following Khrushchev statement:

"Apart from the commitments of non-aggression, it (peaceful coexistence) also presupposes an obligation on the part of all states to desist from violating each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty in any form and under any pretext whatsoever."

When a leading American quarterly published this, in the face of the history of Soviet aggression in the Baltic and Balkan countries, in Hungary and in Laos, we gave strength to Kremlin propaganda by telling the world that Americans were now endorsing what Moscow first said and did.

It is with such hypocritical promises that the Communist Party in this country is planning to invade American organizations again, specifically the trade unions. We get notice of this in "The Worker" where the party notifies its members that the Khrushchev visit has given it new strength to penetrate American life, and in Political Affairs, where the attempted subversion of the unions is outlined.

efforts at "independence." We must recognize that our continued appeasement of Khrushchev is badly depreciating us in Cuba. We must also take the initiative, through American corporations, in introducing profit sharing for the workers of that land. Beyond that, we might indicate that we favor land reforms such as Gen. MacArthur introduced in Japan and the Catholic statesman, Ngo Dinh Diem, is bringing into Vietnam.

The Faith in Focus

Indulgences Again

By Msgr. George W. Shea, S.T.D.

A printer's error garbled last week's attempt to state the conditions for gaining plenary indulgences, so we'll try it again. The conditions ordinarily prescribed for gaining a plenary indulgence and designated by the phrase, "under the usual conditions," are the following: confession, Communion, a visit to a church or public oratory, or even a semi-public oratory in certain cases, and prayer for the intentions of the Pope.

Now that that has been straightened out, we may take up the topic of partial indulgences. A partial indulgence is a remission granted by the Church of part of the temporal punishment due to sins already forgiven. Unlike most plenary indulgences, a partial indulgence can — unless the contrary be expressly stated — be gained frequently throughout the day, whenever the prescribed work is repeated.

The following are some aspirations and invocations to which partial indulgences are attached:

An indulgence of 500 days for saying: "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of hosts: the heavens and the earth are full of Thy glory!" (Enchiridion Indulgentiarum, 1952, No. 2.)

An indulgence of 300 days for saying: "My God and my All!" (Enchiridion Indulgentiarum, 1952, No. 5.)

An indulgence of 500 days for saying: "O God, be merciful to me, the sinner!" (Enchiridion Indulgentiarum, 1952, No. 14.)

An indulgence of five years for saying the Apostles' Creed (Enchiridion Indulgentiarum, 1952, No. 43.).

When, as above, an indulgence is granted in terms of so many days or years, this means that the amount of temporal punishment is remitted which, in the sight of God, would have been remitted by so many days or years of penance in the early Church. Only God knows exactly how much temporal punishment is actually taken away by an indulgence.

The Church's power of remitting temporal punishment by means of indulgences is contained in the "power of the keys" given her by Christ (Mt. 16, 19; 18, 18). In granting an indulgence the Church applies to us from her spiritual treasury part of the infinite satisfaction of Christ and of the Blessed Virgin and of the saints (the satisfaction which Mary and the saints gained during their lifetime but did not need for themselves). The granting of indulgences is a practical expression of the Church's belief in the doctrine of the "communion of saints."

To gain an indulgence for ourselves we must be baptized, must be in the state of grace, must have at least a general intention of gaining the indulgence, and must perform fully and according to the prescribed time, place, and manner, the works required by the Church for the indulgence in question.

The state of grace is required for gaining an indulgence at least at the moment when the prescribed work is finished. Hence even a person in mortal sin can begin to gain an indulgence, unless, of course, the prescribed work demands the state of grace, as is the case with Holy Communion. Since a general intention suffices for gaining indulgences, it is advisable to express from time to time, especially in our morning prayer, the desire of gaining all the indulgences attached to the prayers we shall say and to the good works we shall perform.

We cannot gain indulgences for other living persons, but we can gain them for the souls in purgatory, since the Church makes most indulgences applicable to them.

THE QUESTION BOX

Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, 76 Broad St., Bloomfield, N.J., is editor of The Question Box. Questions may be submitted to him for answer in this column.

Q. Did Our Blessed Mother really die? It seems to me that books and sermons do not agree on this matter. I also wonder if there is any connection between Mary's death and the Rosary?

A. Perhaps the simplest way to settle the matter is to quote from the revised Baltimore Catechism No. 2 where, in Question 178, we are told:

"By the special privilege of her Assumption, the body of the Blessed Virgin Mary, preserved from corruption, was raised from the dead and taken into heaven." It is not defined by the Church that Mary actually died. In his definition of the dogma of Mary's Assumption, Pope Pius XII did not state whether Mary died or not. He defined: "That the Immaculate Mother of God, the ever Virgin Mary, having completed the course of her earthly life, was assumed body and soul into heaven" (Encyclical "Munificentissimus Deus," Nov. 1, 1950, par. 44).

However it is the common teaching of theologians who are skilled in the study of Mary's part in God's plan that Mary did die but that her body did not corrupt after death.

There have been theologians who have held that Mary did not die. They argued that Mary was not subject to the law of death for death is the wages of sin, the penalty of original sin, and Mary was not subject to sin.

The point of these theologians is correct, although their conclusion is not accepted. Mary was free from the law of death and therefore, unlike the rest of the descendants of Adam, did not have to die. God could, therefore, have given her the gift of immortality from her conception had He so desired.

God did not do so, not because He would withhold any privilege from His Mother but because in Mary even death itself was a privilege in that it permitted her to imitate her Divine Son more closely. Because Christ has chosen to die, He permitted Mary to die in imitation of Him. She was His partner in the work of redemption; and as He redeemed mankind by His Passion and death, He would permit Mary to unite her sufferings to His and her death also to His death for mankind.

Mary therefore consented to die, even though she had not the need to die as other humans do. But corruption was never permitted to touch the body that had given His flesh and blood to the Son of God. Corruption of man's body is the result of sin; there is nothing glorious about it and Jesus Himself did not see corruption in the tomb. Hence Mary was kept from corruption after her death until the time of her Assumption into heaven. No details are had as to the moment, or the circumstances of Mary's death. We do not know where she was buried with certainty although the Church of the Dormition in Jerusalem is traditionally marked as the spot of her tomb. We do not know whether she was in the tomb for a short or a long time.

Such details are not needed by us, although because we desire to know as much as we can about our heavenly Mother we would greatly desire to know this. Perhaps some future discovery in the area of the Holy Land will reveal this precious information to generations after us.

In response to the second part of your question, it does not seem that there is any special connection between the Assumption of Mary and the formation of the Rosary. Of course, the fifth glorious mystery of the Rosary calls to mind the Assumption.

Q. Is the Church's name "The Roman Catholic Church" or are we called "Roman Catholics" because we belong to the Latin Rite?

A. The term "Roman Catholic," when used in its more proper sense, refers to anyone who is subject to the Holy Father at Rome. In this sense all Catholics of the Latin Rite and of the Eastern Rites may be called Roman Catholics.

Sometimes the name "Roman Catholic" is used in a less proper manner to refer to a member of the Latin Rite Church. It would be well if this manner of speaking were not used.

Some Protestants refer to "Roman Catholics" in distinction to "Anglican Catholics" or "Eastern Catholics" as if the Church of Rome were only one part of the true Church. This use of the name "Roman Catholic" cannot be approved since the true Church is the Church subject to the Holy Father, and that Church only.

Q. Can we choose Our Blessed Mother for our patron saint in Baptism?

A. Our patron saint of Baptism means the saint whose name we are given when we are baptized. If you are named Mary or any name that comes from Mary or which refers to the Blessed Mother, like Dolores (Our Lady of Sorrows), then the Blessed Mother is your heavenly patroness in a very special way. But if you are not named after the Blessed Mother your patron saint is the saint after whom you were named.

Help Is Offered For the Alcoholic

Editor:

The recent discussion of the pros and cons of alcoholism have been most interesting and helpful, I hope, to someone, somewhere.

One letter, on the love of Christ, was particularly interesting, since it points out one of the most difficult problems we have to contend with — that of trying to distinguish between sickness and sin.

In A.A., we too recognize the difference between the "true" alcoholic, who is a sick person, and the individual who has chosen drunkenness and carousing as a way of life, by preference. He lives that way because he likes the life, and usually his only regret is that he is unable to live a life of absolute self-indulgence without doing damage to himself. He decides to give up drinking because it has become a stumbling block in his pursuit of "happiness."

Characters such as this come into A.A., stop drinking usually with no trouble at all, and proceed to go on living by the principle, "anything that I do is all right as long as I am sober," and sobriety is mere camouflage.

We in A.A. accept this problem as best we can with patience and some degree of tolerance, hoping that since these have been offered the grace of A.A. principles, they may, some day, learn to apply them. Sickness, alcoholism, drunkenness and even sin so often are the very means of our salvation, eventually — and perhaps that is one of the reasons why God permits all of this.

So much of this confusion is due simply to ignorance and intolerance, and there is no need for this. So much has been said, volumes have been written on the subject, but most of it never reaches the eyes and ears of those who need it the most, the alcoholic who still suffers, and the prejudiced non-alcoholic.

It seems that you, as a Catholic newspaper, hold in your hands the answer to a problem that we cannot solve; you get into the home.

One of the most heartbreaking aspects of alcoholism is the fact that those of us who have the answer are so often unable to offer it. We cannot go to those who have the problem; we must wait until they come to us — and too often, they come too late.

The sick alcoholic is like the drowning man who reaches for a straw. The straw is there, but he must reach for it, and out of fear, ignorance, pride and despair, he lacks the courage to reach out toward the only thing that can save him — total abstinence. So

Kaiser Steel Pact Aids Bargaining

By Msgr. George G. Higgins

Director, Social Action Department, NCWC

At a crucial point in the history of labor-management relations the Kaisers, father and son, have demonstrated that where there is a will to make collective bargaining work, there is a way. For this they deserve some sort of award.

It would be almost impossible to exaggerate the importance of what the Kaisers have done, in cooperation with the United Steelworkers of America, to restore some measure of public confidence in collective bargaining as the only alternative to compulsory arbitration.

I WOULD prefer not to contrast the Kaisers unfavorably with their colleagues in Big Steel. But Edgar Kaiser himself has acknowledged that there is a "difference in thinking" between Kaiser Corp. and the powers-that-be in basic steel.

This difference is best illustrated by Section VI of the contract which Kaiser Corp. negotiated with the steelworkers.

"The parties shall establish," it reads, "a joint committee, consisting of Dr. George Taylor, chairman; David L. Cole, and John Dunlop, and three representatives designated by each party to recommend for the consideration of the parties the establishment of a long-range plan for equitable sharing between the stockholders, the employees and the public, of the fruits of the company's progress. The formula shall give appropriate consideration to safeguarding the employees against increases in cost of living, to promoting stability of employment, to reasonable sharing of increased productivity, labor cost savings, to providing for necessary expansion and for assuring the company's and employees' progress."

THE ESTABLISHMENT of this committee is an encouraging

Sunday, Nov. 15 — St. Albert the Great, Bishop-Confessor-Doctor. Noted German Dominican philosopher and theologian who taught St. Thomas Aquinas. Died in 1280 at age of 68 in Cologne.

Monday, Nov. 16 — St. Gertrude, Virgin. A Benedictine nun from Saxony, she was blessed with high gifts of mystic prayer.

Tuesday, Nov. 17 — St. Gregory the Wonderworker, Bishop-Confessor. Born in Neo-Cassara near the Black Sea and became Bishop in 240. At the time but 17 Christians were there, at his death there were only 17 pagans.

Wednesday, Nov. 18 — Dedication of the Basilicas of St. Peter and Paul. These are the two most famous churches in Rome.

Thursday, Nov. 19 — St. Elizabeth of Hungary, Widow. Daughter of King Andreas II, she was born in 1207, married at the age of 14 and was reduced to poverty at 20 when her husband died. Forced from her home by her brother-in-law, she lived to see her son reinstated in his inheritance. She is the patron saint of the Third Order of St. Francis, of which she was a member. Died 1231, canonized four years later.

Friday, Nov. 20 — St. Felix of Valois, Confessor. Son of the Count of Valois, he was born in 1127, joined the Cistercians and lived as a hermit in Italy before co-founding the Congregation of the Holy Trinity. Died 1212.

Saturday, Nov. 21 — Presentation of the Blessed Virgin. Commemorates her presentation in the temple at Jerusalem at age of three by her parents.

It might be effective to place a large, bulletin-type sign prominently in the vestibules of churches each Sunday, reading "Attendance, 2,500; Contributions, $1,000."

More on Lists Of Contributions

Editor:

This is in reference to the discussion regarding publishing lists of contributions.

Catholics contribute to the support of the Catholic Church. That is where the Church's income comes from—not the state nor the government—but from Catholics.

Many Catholics grumble that "the Church is always asking for money." If these same Catholics would increase their church donations from say 1% of their earnings to 5% or 10%, they would find that the Church would not be "always asking for money."

It's strange how many people can afford to spend $40 or $50 on repairs for the TV set, or spend over $100 at the seashore in the summer, or $100 or $200 at Christmas time — and then think they are "contributing to the support of their Church" by giving $1 each Sunday, and $5 or $10 at Christmas time.

Perhaps publishing lists of contributions will help—I don't know—but certainly something must be tried.

What the Church, Doctors Have to Say About the So-Called 'Birth Control' Pill

By Rev. John L. Thomas, S.J.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University

What does the Church say about so-called birth control pills? If one can trust the popular reports the discovery of these pills represents a major breakthrough in the efforts to control population. Can such pills ever be used? How does their use differ morally from the use of ordinary contraceptives?

In spite of popular reports, there has been no major breakthrough in the area of birth control pills. It has been known for some time that ovulation can be blocked in many species by administration of certain hormones or their synthetic chemical equivalents. The anti-fertility pill that has received a great deal of publicity recently is of this nature.

It is a synthetic chemical steroid that can be taken orally. It was developed to control menstrual disorders and its effects in blocking ovulation was discovered later. The pill is relatively expensive and must be taken daily to prove effective in blocking ovulation.

RESEARCH discloses some undesirable side effects such as nausea, though it is believed these may be eliminated eventually. The long range possible effects are not known.

or temporary, is intended as an end in itself or as a means to a further end. Direct sterilization is wrong because it represents an unreasonable mutilation.

Sterilization is termed indirect when sterility is an unintentional by-product of a genuine therapeutic procedure—for example, when a cancerous uterus is removed.

INDIRECT sterilization is judged morally permissible under certain conditions. A widely used principle in medical ethics, sometimes called the principle of "totality," applies here: the individual has the right to use the services of his organism as a whole and consequently may allow individual parts to be destroyed or mutilated when and to the extent necessary for the good of his being as a whole.

The conditions required for licit mutilation, whether by removal of an organ or by suppression of its functions, are:

(A) the preservation of the organ or its functioning must be a source of actual harm or constitute a threat to the total well-being of the person; (b) there must be a well-founded assurance that the proposed mutilation will either remove or notably diminish the harm, and that this effect cannot be obtained without the mutilation; and (c) there must be a reasonable estimate that the good to be effected, e.g., by removing the harm, reducing pain, etc., will compensate for the evil effects consequent on loss of the organ or function.

APPLYING THESE principles, if the use of a pill constitutes direct sterilization as defined above, its use is immoral; if its use results in indirect sterilization, the principle of totality applies.

It follows that such a pill could licitly be used to alleviate or eliminate various malfunctions or pathological conditions in the human system.

Further, if a suitable means could be discovered to control disorders or marked irregularities in the menstrual cycle, its use for this purpose would be permissible.

I think you can now see how the use of these pills differs morally from use of contraceptives. Since these pills act as sterilizing agents, their licit use is governed by the moral principles relating to sterilization. The use of contraceptives is always wrong because it vitiates or renders intrinsically evil the act of conjugal relations itself.

You may wonder why I maintain that the present pill constitutes no major breakthrough. The reason is that the "pill" the planned parenthooders desire must be cheap, safe and effective if taken only every few days or so.

The present pill lacks such qualities.

Red Sacrifices Contrasted With Those of Catholics

Members of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith (that means you, for the Holy Father wants all Catholics to be members) are asked to make a sacrifice for the missions. Another kind of sacrifice is asked of Chinese youth for the cause of communism.

A report recently printed in China was entitled "The Magnificent Spirit of the Youth in Sinking in the Construction of the Canal." This report read: "The building of this canal called for 800,000 days of work; 500,000 cubic meters of earth had to be transported. It was accomplished in 131 days by 30,000 young men and women."

There was a question as to Bishop Stanton is deeply grateful to Msgr. Byrne and to the other pastors of the Archdiocese for their cooperation in making these appeals possible.

whether these youths would freeze to death, never having worked in temperatures varying from 22 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit with cold winds blowing from the Gobi Desert. It was under these conditions the heroic youths worked. When their shoes wore out they worked in bare feet. If they had no gloves they worked with bare hands.

If parallel sacrifices were made by the faithful they would be saints, and if they were made by youths who had been baptized and confirmed, there would be little communism in the world.

Seminarians Help

Louisiana Missioner

A Southern missionary has to spread himself over 150 square miles of bayous, swamps and pine forests to cover four churches. He is Rev. John O'Brien, O.M.I.

Pastor of Our Lady of Good Hope parish, Father O'Brien labors on Bayou Delisle in Louisiana, only a few miles from the Mississippi. Catholic families are descendants of early European settlers. Originally French-speaking, many of the older people still cling to a species of French today.

While the people are Catholic by heritage and by name, they are also heir to the weakness that develops after years of marginal education. Father O'Brien's remarkable church building program has influenced many returns to the sacramental life.

Starting a seminary in a bankrupt hotel, Father O'Brien now has 75 students and 10 priest-confessors. The seminarians are a great help, as each Sunday finds one or more at each church leading the people in a closer participation in the Mass. Educating the children in their faith is their weekday task.

It is because of the part played by the seminarians in the life of the Church that Father O'Brien is able to cover his 150-square-mile parish of financially poor but spiritually rich people.

Japan Radio Spreads

Knowledge of Church

Radio is proving a boon in Kyoto, Japan, where the Good Shepherd movement has concentrated on mass communications media to reach the highly literate Japanese people. About 5,000 are enrolled in a dynamic Catholic correspondence course offered by the movement on its daily radio program.

Because it is a difficult mission country, missionaries expect few mass conversions. Rev. James F. Hyatt, Maryknoll priest who founded the Good Shepherd movement, relates that even though Buddhism and Shintoism dominate that nation of 90 million people, Christianity has an influence on Japanese life far greater than the comparatively small number of followers indicates.

The movement has its own printing plant and furnishes a complete religious correspondence course. Father Hyatt feels it also could "blanket the entire country with the radio program on 25 to 30 stations" if money could be secured to finance the operation.

"Although we are paying the lowest rates for our air time," states Father Hyatt, "dioceses in poorer areas are unable to find the means to carry the program. But results to date in Kyoto indicate that we are on the right track and are probably reaching the greatest number of people at the lowest possible cost."

Family Basic Unit of Society, Holy Father Tells Pilgrims

NCWC News Service

Following is a translation of an address delivered by Pope John XXIII on May 30, 1959, to the family movements of the French Teams of Our Lady. The Pope cited the importance of the family as the basic unit of society.

Dear sons and daughters, What a pleasure it is for us to welcome today your 1,000 Christian families, which represent in our eyes all of those of the Teams of Our Lady family movement, and many others which aspire these days to a deep spiritual life.

After some 20 years of existence, your movement is now reaching an imposing number of families in several countries whose members have firmly decided to be faithful, with the assistance of the Lord, to the graces of the marriage sacrament, to their responsibilities as educators, and to their apostolic tasks in the Church and the world.

YOUR ARRIVAL, dear pilgrims, brings us joy and consolation. In the contemporary world, marriage and the family are, in reality, all too often attacked in a variety of ways. Fundamental principles of natural morality are being denied or scorned with impunity; and many Christian homes are being gradually penetrated by an atmosphere of naturalism or of latent immorality, and are being to lose sight of the supernatural grandeur of their vocation.

How important it is then for Catholic doctrine—so firm, so clear, so rich—to be exemplified in this field to some degree and to be brought within reach of all through the example of fervent Catholics who make an effort, in their conduct as husbands, fathers and mothers, to be entirely true to the ideal outlined by Our Lord Himself.

As in the case with the members of all homes, you undoubtedly know the temptations and the trials of life. And it is precisely because you wish to avoid these risks and to sustain your effort that you are organizing your teams. You are finding them a valuable aid toward understanding the requirements of spiritual life, with the advice of a priest, and toward solving, in the light of Faith, the problems that the different stages of life bring to married couples and parents.

You also find in the teams brotherly friendship and, when needed, the security of financial assistance. Thus in bearing each other's burdens you are generously fulfilling Christ's law.

PURSUED WITH confidence and humility your effort to attain Christian perfection within the framework of your conjugal and family life. Although it is true that virginity is, by its nature, superior to the married state, this affirmation is not—as you know—in any manner in opposition to the invitation to all faithful to be "perfect as the celestial father is perfect."

The very honor that the Church pays to Christian virginity is valuable to married persons, because the perfect chastity of dedicated spirits is a constant reminder of the ideal of love for God which should also in marriage encourage and support the practice of chastity which is appropriate to that state.

What wealth and hope for the Church are contained in the growth of Christian homes in which, according to the terms of your basic law of life, husbands and wives desire to make their mutual love—sanctified by grace and purified by sacrifice—a glorification of God and a testimonial to men of the sanctity of marriage and a reparation for the sins committed against it.

This has long been your determination, dear sons and daughters. You desire to make a true germ cell of the Church out of the unique and privileged family society, where God may be honored particularly by common prayer, where His holy law may be observed, regardless of how difficult that may sometimes be; where those precious fruits of the human heart—conjugal love, paternal and maternal love, filial love and brotherly love—may grow harmoniously.

IN THE THOUGHT of the Church, a truly Christian home constitutes the nourishing atmosphere in which the faith of the children grows and develops, and where they learn to become not only men but also sons of God.

On the occasion of this pilgrimage you, dear fathers and mothers assembled here, want to tell us of your determination to offer these children generously to the service of the Lord, if one day he calls them. With absolute respect for the personal vocation of each and every one of them, you affirm that it would be an honor and a pleasure for you to give to the Church the priests, Brothers and Sisters whom she needs so much today to respond to the call of souls.

Your gesture touches us deeply and we thank you from the bottom of our heart, hoping that your faithful attitude may be an example to many Christian parents. Just as any excessive pressure in this direction would be dangerous, the vigilant discretion with which a father and mother cooperate to a certain extent with God and the Church to aid the unfolding and growth of that delicate flower of vocation within the soul of the child, is important—sometimes irreplaceable.

YOUR MISSION as spouses and as Christian parents goes beyond the limited framework of the family. Protecting the intimacy of the home does not mean shutting it in sterily upon itself. Charity achieves perfection by the giving of oneself. It is by devotion to the tasks that fall to your lot in the Church and in the world that your home will attain its full Christian development.

In former times—and still in many countries today—the population of a village was counted by the number of its fireplaces. It was a way of recognizing that the family is the active cell of civil society. You owe it to yourselves to show by your attitude that such is your conviction.

But, above all, may your movement aid its members more and more to discover and to assume their apostolic responsibility.

Meditation Book For Advance Sale

CONVENT—The Sister Miriam Teresa League this week announced that it will distribute copies of Daily Missal Meditations, the soon-to-be-published first volume of a four volume series being written by the Sisters of Charity.

Price for orders placed before Dec. 1 is $5, after Dec. 1, $6, the League noted. A delay in the publishing date, originally set for Nov. 1, was also announced. It is expected that the books will be ready by early December.

The meditations include some by Sister Miriam Teresa, Bayonne-born Sister of Charity whose cause for beatification is underway.

Speak at Ridgewood RIDGEWOOD — Dr. George F. Crikelaar and John J. White, at the Nov. 19 meeting of the Serra Club of Ridgewood, will discuss St. Francis of Assisi and St. Benedict.

ties. In being hospitable, brotherly and receptive to the needs of others, a family exercises its genuine apostolate by example and by the radiation of love.

But we are pleased to know that the members of the Teams of Our Lady, filled with missionary zeal, are taking part in large numbers in Catholic Action and in various programs approved by the hierarchy. We sincerely encourage this orientation of the movement, without which it would not reach the goal it has set for itself: the creation of truly Christian homes.

IN CONCLUSION, dear sons and daughters, We are pleased to note that you have placed yourselves under the patronage of Our Lady. It is through her that you wish to go to God. May she keep all of your homes in purity and love. May she bring them to imitate the Holy Family of Nazareth, which Our predecessor, Leo XIII, offered to Christian families as a perfect and complete model of all domestic virtues.

To all of you, dear pilgrims of the Teams of Our Lady, to all of the members of your movement, to your chaplains, and, above all, to the promoter and indefatigable guide of this movement for the spiritual training of homes, we grant as a token of abundant divine grace, Our very paternal apostolic benediction.

Our Lady of Lourdes To Celebrate Jubilee

PATERSON — Parishioners of Our Lady of Lourdes Church here will celebrate the diamond jubilee of the founding of their parish on Nov. 15.

Bishop McNulty will preside at the Solemn Mass of Wanerka, pastor. That evening the diamond jubilee banquet will be held at the Casino de Charlz, Totowa Borough.

Assisting Father Wanerka at the Mass as deacon and subdeacon will be Rev. Leo E. Schnell, O.P., Providence College, R.I., and Rev. John E. Mushinsky, Our Lady of Lourdes, Msgr. William F. Louis, Paterson Chancellor, will be master of ceremonies. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Edgar A. Verhoest, chaplain, Alexian Brothers Hospital. Both he and Father Schnell acknowledged their vocations to the priesthood while parishioners at Our Lady of Lourdes.

Principal speaker at the parish dinner will be Rev. John P. McHugh, director of De Paul Regional High School, Wayne. Father Wanerka will be toastmaster. Co-chairmen are Louis Letizia and Mrs. John Fox.

Parents of Deaf To Hear Nun

UNION CITY — Sister M. Bridget, M.H.S.H., will speak on "The Blessings of the Handicapped Child" at the fourth annual parents day sponsored by the Mt. Carmel Guild's Hudson County Catechetical School for the Deaf. The program will be held Nov. 15, 3 p.m., at St. Bridget's CYO.

Sister Bridget was recently named supervisor of the Jersey City classes. She has taught in schools of the deaf staffed by the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart in Baltimore and Puerto Rico.

Also featured will be a demonstration of a new visual aid technique for teaching deaf children about the miracles of Our Lord. A film strip developed by Rev. Edward J. Hayes, the Guild's visual aid research director, and a dramatization by the children will be included.

Rev. George Ligos is director of the school which has 19 pupils taught by 18 students of Jersey City State Teachers College.

OUR LADY of Lourdes parish had its beginnings as a mission of St. Boniface Church, Paterson, and itself has been the mother church for three other missions. Two of these, St. Anthony's, Hawthorne, and St. Paul's, Prospect Park, are now well-established parishes. The other mission is Immaculate Conception, Paterson.

Our Lady of Lourdes now serves 1,150 parishioners. Its school, with an enrollment of 400 children, is administered by the Dominican Sisters of Newburgh, N.Y.

The church buildings are located on River St. in the Riverside section of Paterson. The church itself was erected in 1926 and dedicated in 1929.

Guild Has Served Blind for 20 Years

By Anne Mae Buckley
NEWARK — In 20 years the Mt. Carmel Guild Department for the Blind has grown from five to 550 members, and from a monthly-meeting activity to an open-daily recreational and educational center.

The department will mark its 20th anniversary Nov. 15 with a dinner at Mt. Carmel Guild Headquarters, 29 Central Ave., at 4 p.m.

THOSE WHO visualize the Guild's program as a kind of protective ghetto designed to shield the blind from the glare of the sighted world are deluded. As Rev. Richard M. McGuinness, director, explains that program, it is composed of "classes and activities geared to making the blind more self-reliant, independent and able to take part in the life of their own homes and environment."

At the center the blind can learn bowling, dancing, braille, sewing, cooking, carpentry, radio building, jewelry making and other arts, crafts and amusements. Since a month ago these activities have been put on a daily basis with the center's facilities available from 2 p.m. to 10 every day.

AMONG THE SERVICES available to the blind, in addition to instruction, are reading aloud by sighted people, a braille-mimeographed newspaper, "See-Hear," published on a unique braille duplicator, and most recently an unusual accident insurance set-up for the blind at normal rates.

Father McGuinness, who was appointed director of the department by Archbishop Boland in July, 1953, is serving his second term as president of the American Federation of Catholic Workers for the Blind. The insurance project, available to members of the Federation, is typical of the fresh approach and vigorous confidence in the blind that Father McGuinness habitually brings to the work.

THE GUILD'S department for the blind was inaugurated Oct. 7, 1939, by Msgr. John G. Delaney, then archdiocesan director of the Guild, and Mrs. Leo Norton of Newark, the department's first chairman.

Mrs. Norton held the post until two years ago when she retired for health reasons. The numbers of blind people who attended the monthly devotions and socials and participated in the outings, grew steadily from the original group of five, to the present membership of 550.

FUN: Father McGuinness listens in on bowling pointers given to blind Viola Gibson by Matty Makaus, instructor.

Helen Reilly of Jersey City, a veteran of the advertising business, is the new chairman for the blind. All workers are volunteers, except for a receptionist recently engaged when the department went on a daily basis. The enthusiasm of the volunteers has led them to do everything from learning to write and read braille, to serving up a huge traditional turkey dinner for the blind every Thanksgiving.

IN JANUARY, 1957, the department took over its present headquarters, the second floor of the Mt. Carmel Guild building.

Here the blind can spend happy, constructive hours — "reading" magazines (typed by volunteers), learning hobbies and skills, rehearsing with the glee club, participating in the religious discussion club, playing checkers (with special braille markers) or shuffle-board.

Here they meet after devotions at St. Patrick's Pro-Cathedral. This is the starting point for outings — fishing trips, picnics and the like.

AND MOST important, through all these activities, here they can begin to gain the self-confidence necessary to help them take their place in the world that belongs to those who can see — and also to those who cannot.

With Humble Pride

Television? It's Dreary

By Dan Herr
Recently I ended a column with these words from H.L. Mencken: "Nobody ever went broke under-estimating the taste of the American public." This week we will gaze in rapture on the current television scene and what better words could I use to key-note my findings?

Every September the television's finest stars proudly announce that television's finest hour has arrived. This year the announcement was even more breathless than usual, with promises of maturity and responsibility and new concepts in depth.

Ever one to believe the printed word I hopped from one foot to another in gleeful anticipation of the treasures that were about to be set before me.

HOWEVER IT'S the same dreary old television fare. In fact, it's drearier than ever. Most of it is a calculated insult to an adult viewer. Bring back Chautauques, bring back the magic lantern, bring back dominoes, mahjong, and mumbletypeg. Almost anything would be better than this.

Bob Hope is still with us and he's still Bob Hope, which means he is not very funny. Although Jack Benny has a new sponsor, he is using the same joke. He did manage to snare Harry Truman as a guest star, thereby confirming the opinion of those of us who hold that our ex-presidents should be exiled to a Tibetan monastery upon leaving office.

Dinah Shore and Perry Como, two performers who through the years could be counted on to furnish a pleasant hour—although I often wished Perry would ditch the very unfunny station-break running gag and that Dinah, to quote Groucho Marx, could try to look miserable for a change—have run into trouble this year. Perry lost his star writer and Dinah her director. In both cases the loss is evident.

Lawrence Welk still manages to make all the music he plays sound like the same song repeated over and over—a song that wasn't worth bothering with in the first place. The girl singer who quit for a variety of reasons is not missed. As a matter of fact, Lawrence Welk wouldn't be missed either, but I suppose that's too much to hope for.

ject more sex-appeal into the Westerns. As yet I haven't been able to see much difference. The horses still carry off the acting honors, the sets are all the same, and you can't tell one plot from another without a program.

Saturday night, once the best night of the week for routine but enjoyable family-type shows, has changed character completely. Now it's the night to let the picture tube get a good rest. The so-called intellectual programs have all but disappeared on Sunday afternoons and no attempt has been made to fill the void left by Omnibus and Wide, Wide World.

Steve Allen, who was only occasionally funny, has moved his show to Hollywood and, as any 80-year-old could have predicted it has lost any merit it may have had.

Loretta Young, the Pollyanna of the picture box, has started to wear out this year's door. She is evidently continuing her attempts to make goodness nauseating and this may be the year she succeeds.

ED SULLIVAN occasionally forgets himself and allows an act to rise above the level of the mediocrity which is characteristic of the program. Probably, like me, you keep watching in order not to miss those fascinating drill teams.

Jack Paar, an adolescent comedian whose humor is directed at and appreciated by adolescents, continues to make a career out of back-fence jokes.

Next week: An appreciation of the new programs. Same time, same station.

Franciscans Ordered From Loper Camp
SINGAPORE (NC) — Singapore's new government has ordered the Franciscan Missionaries of the Divine Motherhood to stop their work and leave the government camp for lepers.

No explanation was given. It was understood that doctors, patients and the public, except for a few religious bigots, were satisfied with the Franciscans' work at the center.

N.J. Newsgal's Conversion Is Story for Columnist

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — The story of how picking up a pamphlet from a co-worker's desk led to the conversion of a Hawthorne, N.J., woman is the subject of a column by Rev. John A. O'Brien appearing this week in some 30 U.S. and Canadian newspapers.

Father O'Brien used Rosalie Frohlich Longo's story in his current "Sharing Our Treasure" column.

ROSALIE'S ROAD to the Church began in the office of the Paterson Evening News where she is a reporter. A pamphlet on Our Lady which she found on the desk of the news editor, Jim Cahill, showed her "the reasonableness of the Church's teaching that the Blessed Virgin is to be honored and venerated," and made her want to know more about Catholicism.

Another Evening News staffer, Marcella Kearney, co-operated by taking Rosalie along to novena services. A third, Jim Longo, explained some of the doctrines of the Church and took her to Mass.

Finally, a Christian Doctrine course conducted by Rev. John Finn and Rev. Eugene Costello of Mt. Carmel, Ridge-wood, demonstrated for Rosalie the succession of Popes from St. Peter and convinced her the Catholic Church is the true Church.

She was received into the Church Aug. 15, 1958. Last June she and Jim Longo were married.

Devotion After Dark

Decade of Adoration in West Essex

BLOOMFIELD—On one night a month the doors of Sacred Heart Church do not close, nor is the church empty for a moment between the hours of 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. It has been this way for the past 10 years.

The night is the first Friday of every month; the worshippers, 500 men from 24 parishes who belong to the Nocturnal Adoration Society of West Essex. The society will observe its 10th anniversary Dec. 6 with a Communion breakfast at The Rock, West Orange, at which Archbishop Boland will speak.

A MAN'S VIGIL: In the darkness until dawn men pray the Divine Office before the Blessed Sacrament in monthly Nocturnal Adoration rites.

NOCTURNAL ADORATION is not so much a society as it is a devotion. There are no meetings, no dues, only one annual activity, the Communion breakfast. Yet it is a devotion so appealing that hundreds of men look forward to the monthly vigil, arise in the wee hours without complaint, find deep spiritual comfort in spending an hour in prayer before the Blessed Sacrament exposed.

One month a man's assigned hour might be 9 p.m.-10 p.m.; six months later, the cycle will have brought him the assignment of 3 a.m. to 4 a.m. Although a man may keep his vigil at the same hour every month, a number of members follow the rotating cycle.

THERE ARE 34 members who have perfect attendance records for 10 years.

Nocturnal Adoration was born nearly 150 years ago, in 1810, when a Jewish convert, Herman Cohen, organized laymen who promised to keep vigils before the Blessed Sacrament in

ONE PRIEST-MEMBER is Sacred Heart's pastor, Bishop Curtis, who often attends every hour throughout the night with the men, gives a short talk at each hour, and occasionally when possible celebrates Mass at one of the early morning hours.

Attempting to explain the particular appeal of this devotion, which makes rather more difficult demands upon its participants than other kinds of devotion, one member said: "The hour of watch is indeed a privilege. As the night goes on, especially in the hours nearing dawn, a great stillness settles on the church, and you feel a tremendous closeness to God. As you kneel and pray before the Blessed Sacrament, you find a facility for adoration."

Request Boycott Of South Africa

MOSHI, Tanganyika (NC) — Delegates from six African territories have called for a general boycott of all Union of South Africa goods in protest against its racist policies, often condemned by the South African Bishops.

The meeting was sponsored by the Pan-African Freedom Movement of East and Central Africa. Chairman was Julius Nyerere, leading Catholic layman of Tanganyika. Five years ago he resigned as a teacher in a Catholic school to found the Tanganyika African National Union, now the territory's largest political party.

The delegates represented the British-controlled territories of Congo and Ruanda-Urundi.

It's Christmas Time in Club Headquarters

By June Dwyer

Christmas is almost here! Maybe not as far as the calendar tells us, but it sure enough is coming to Young Advocate headquarters this week!

Addie is running around painting the typewriters red and green and hanging icicles on the radiators. Members of the Senior Young Advocates — and anyone who knows Addie well — will know that Addie is giving us a clue for our next Club contest.

Addie has found that the boys and girls in the Club love to make Christmas cards and to draw pictures of the Baby Jesus. So, our Christmas contest is the same as it was last year.

WE ARE asking the older boys and girls, from the fifth through the eighth grades, to make us Christmas cards. We hope they will use their own ideas. We don't want them to copy from cards in stores or from cards they have received themselves other years.

This year, as a special reward, the best cards will be sent to some children who wouldn't otherwise be getting cards. That means, Young Advocates, that your entry may bring added joy into the life of some other boy or girl. That way, your entry can be a real sharing of the Christmas spirit.

St. James Club Gets Charter

TRENTON — Students of St. James School, which has been a big Young Advocate Club supporter, have received their charter for a Citizens of Tomorrow Civics Club from the Catholic University of America.

The seventh graders elected the following officers: Katherine Adams, president; Joseph Picarello, Joann Pasqua, Samuel Plumeri and John De Angelo.

THE BOYS and the girls in the kindergarten through the fourth grades are asked to draw us a picture of the true Christmas. We would like to see Mary and Joseph by the Baby on the first Christmas night.

If you would like to add the shepherds and the sheep, or perhaps even the Wise Men who came later, that will be all right too.

OUR Christmas contest will close Dec. 16, in order to give us time to get the cards out to the children by Christmas.

If you enter the contest, be sure to fill in the box on this page with your name, address, school, grade, and teacher's name. Sometimes we cannot read your writing, so be sure to print or write clearly. If you don't think we will be able to understand your writing, it would be better to have some adult fill in the box for you. Any grader is welcome to enter the contest. If you are not a member of the Young Advocate Club, your entry will make you a member. Members are eligible for cash prizes of $3, $5, or $10 if they win, besides getting certificates from the Club.

Here's a wonderful chance to spread the true spirit of Christmas and to put added funds in your Christmas stocking. Get busy, there are only 34 days to go!

SPREAD THE WORD: The students at St. Aedan's, Jersey City, want to make sure everyone knows the theme of this year's national Catholic Education week: "Our Way, Our Truth, Our Life." The school held open house for parents Nov. 8 to point up the week. Shown left to right above are: Kathleen Maher, Alice Mangano, Karen Glynn, Bernadette Masiello, Leo Jablow, John Walsh, Denis Bratton, John Beirne, Terence Boyle, Peter Sherry, Brendan Scott and Joseph Palazzo.

How Old Will You Be, Sister?

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (RNS)—A young girl of 20 who enters the religious life can look forward today to living 14 years longer than a Sister of the same age could have at the turn of the century.

This was noted in the results of two extensive studies on the life expectancy of nuns in the U.S. compiled by Dr. Con J. Fecher, associate professor of economics at the University of Dayton.

WRITING in the November issue of Catholic Management Journal, published here, Dr. Fecher added it is estimated that by 1975, a 20-year-old religious will have an excellent chance of living to the ripe old age of 80 or more—an advantage of four extra years over her counterpart in the world.

In his research, Dr. Fecher compared some 90,000 nuns in 90 Sisterhoods to white females throughout the country, from 1900 to date.

THE ADDED years are due to a combination of factors, he reported, not just to the lower death rate of the general population. He said the control of tuberculosis and other communicable diseases, so rampant among religious during the early 1900's, has accounted for nearly 60% of the increased life span among religious.

Lives of the Saints

Raphael

There is very little known about the even archangels who stand before God in Heaven. We do know something, though, about three of those angels who came to earth at different times to deliver messages or to perform services for God: Michael, Gabriel, and Raphael. Raphael is honored in the Jewish and the Christian religions. In the Old Testament we are told that St. Raphael was also sent to help Sara who, seven months had died on the night of the wedding.

THE STORIES about Raphael refer to his powers to heal and even his name, "Raphael," means "God has healed." We honor Raphael as a saint because he came to earth and took the body of man to aid us. Pray to St. Raphael. Pray that you may always be a messenger of God to those who need help.

St. Raphael

St. Raphael is portrayed by Patricia Malone of Sacred Heart Cathedral, Newark, which is staffed by Sisters of Charity. St. Raphael's feast day is Oct. 24.

St. Adalbert's Sets Brisk November Pace

ELIZABETH — The PTA of St. Adalbert's combined a constructive meeting with an inaugural dinner recently. Mrs. Victoria Bednarski was chairman of the affair which took place in the auditorium.

Mrs. Adele Gromek was installed as president. Other officers are Mrs. Bednarski, Mrs. Mary Ann Padlo, Mrs. Victoria Guteski, Mrs. Ann Baranowski and Mrs. Helen Sartin.

At the business meeting the group decided to give raincoats to the patrol boys, to hold a pantry shower for the Felician Sisters at the meeting Nov. 16, and to hold a bus ride to Hope Nov. 15 at 10 a.m.

St. Dominic Academy, Jersey City—The Mothers' Club will hold a free card party Nov. 19 in the auditorium instead of the usual business meeting. A cake sale will also be held. Mrs. Anthony Amoroso and Mrs. Richard Barry are chairmen of the evening which will benefit the Dominican Sisters Development Fund.

Mt. St. John Academy, Gladstone—Dr. Anna Starr, child psychologist will address the PTA Nov. 19 at 9 p.m. Dr. Starr is presently a lecturer at Georgian Court College, psychologist at St. Matthew's, Nixon, and on the staff of Catholic Welfare Bureau for the Trenton Diocese.

Sacred Heart, Clifton — The Mothers' Guild will hold a masquerade and buffet supper Nov. 14 at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Mrs. Fred Kowal is chairman assisted by Mrs. Michael Moretti.

St. Margaret's, Morristown — The Mothers' Guild will co-sponsor a calendar social Nov. 20 at the Columbian Club. The Holy Name will pitch in on the party which will start at 8 p.m. Mrs. William Knowles and Mrs. Al Birkmaier are women's chairmen.

St. Casimir's, Newark — The Parents' Association will hold a card party and fashion show Nov. 20 in the auditorium. Mrs. Walter J. Loboda is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edward Kaminski and Mrs. Joseph Falkowski.

St. Joseph's, East Orange — The PTA will hold a meeting Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. at which Carl Pecoraro, principal of the Garfield school, will speak.

Sacred Heart, Bloomfield — More than 600 parents attended a parents night program Nov. 6. Bishop Curtis, pastor, explained that the purpose of the evening was to acquaint the parents with the teachers. Sister Alice Dolores, principal, also spoke. Mrs. Joseph Fox of Glen Ridge, chairman of class mothers, was program chairman.

Oratory, Summit — The Mothers' Club will hold a luncheon-Bridge, fashion show for the benefit of the building fund, Nov. 19 at 12:30 p.m. at Mayfair Farms, West Orange. Mrs. Joseph Hand of Westfield is chairman assisted by Mrs. Frank Keogh, also Westfield.

Our Lady Queen of Peace,

St. Michael's Jubilarian Is Living in a Smile

NEWARK — Sister Alexandrine doesn't have any trouble smiling any time of the year, but now she is wearing an Irish smile that would do the happiest leprechaun proud. Sister Alexandrine, at age 88, is celebrating her golden jubilee as a Sister of the Poor of St. Francis.

The scene Nov. 11 of a Mass of Thanksgiving offered by Rev. David J. McCarthy, hospital chaplain, in Sister Alexandrine's honor. Speaker for the occasion was Rev. Bonaventure Schwinn, O.S.B., of St. Mary's, Newark.

SISTER Alexandrine was born in Columbus, Ohio. She went with her family — two sisters and four brothers — to live in California when she was still young. Before entering the convent she made a reputation in music as a vocalist and a pianist. "I played the guitar, too," she said. "But my sister was the best musician."

Considering the year she entered the convent in Ohio, Sister Alexandrine's boast that she drove a car may well prove her to have been the first woman-driver in her hometown. "I'm not too sure of the name of the car," she recalled, "my memory isn't as good as it used to be, but it really doesn't have to be. 'I don't have to remember much in my job.' Sister Alexandrine's job, according to the Sisters of the hospital, is to pray. "We call her Moses," one Sister said, "she prays for her community while we try to do the work. But that doesn't keep her from getting around just the same." Sister Alexandrine has been retired from hospital duty, where she served most frequently on the surgical wards, for 10 years. Since then she has worked in the nuns' quarters. Two years ago a hip injury made it necessary for the quick-witted nun to use a wheel chair, which she laughingly refers to as her "car."

PRAYING and spiritual reading fill the life of a nun who holds an R.N. and received college education. She quickly "drove" upstairs to the fifth floor to show a picture of her favorite saint — St. Anthony. "Look at him," she said. "He is holding onto the Infant as if he couldn't do without Him. I guess that's true too, isn't it, he couldn't do without Him — none of us could."

As to her 50 years of service as a religious, Sister Alexandrine is very definite: "It's been like a little bit of heaven on earth," she said, "and now after 50 years, I feel as if I'm living in a smile."

SANK YOU VERY MUCH

No matter what the Sister says to him, the recently-arrived seven-year old refugee in St. Jerome School in the Bronx always replies, "SANK YOU VERY MUCH." In anticipation of the coming of SISTER HELENE and SISTER CLAUDE MARIE to LEBANON, the parents of our refugee children are teaching them to say the same. Their words of gratitude will be for your ears too if you can send $150 a year for the two-year novitiate of each Sister.

AN ALL YEAR ROUND CRIB for the CHILD JESUS in THE BLESSED SACRAMENT is an urgent need in KAREMLESE in IRAN. Your gift of $4,000—or part of same—will initiate THE BUILDING OF THIS CHURCH... Remember your childlike STRAW SACRIFICES? When each piece of un-eaten candy, each unseen movie, each act of self-denial was a STRAW FOR THE CHRISTMAS CRIB? Your adult "Straw Sacrifices" will furnish this house of God.

POPE JOHN XXIII is concerned that the people in the Holy Land—CANAN, BETHLEHEM, NAZARETH and JERUSALEM—be especially CHRIST-WISE and CHRIST-CONSCIOUS at Christmas time. YOUR DOLLAR-A-MONTH GIFT to one of our clubs—You can call it your OUTGOING CHRISTMAS CLUB—will endear you to our Holy Father and will make CHRISTMAS A CHRISTIAN REALITY for those in need.

THE BASILIANS is a Mission Club which supports schools for REFUGEE CHILDREN... THE MONICA FUND supports churches and chapels in the Near East.

AS HE GROWS in the PRIESTHOOD, a priest becomes more and more aware of the financial difficulties some young men have in their seminary days. He is increasingly thoughtful, name by name, of THOSE WHO HELPED MAKE POSSIBLE HIS OWN ORDINATION. From the very beginning, BECAUSE OF THEIR UTTER DEPENDENCE ON YOUR GENEROSITY, SEBASTIAN and DOMINIC will have your intentions in their prayers for your gift of $100 for each year of their six-year seminary course.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING TROUBLES? We have an easy answer. Make all your gifts spiritual this year and take care of it all from your armchair. Ask us to send to your relatives, friends, priests or nuns our beautiful CHRISTMAS GIFT CARD with which we enclose FRESSED FLOWERS FROM THE HOLY LAND. We'll say you arranged for a missionary to say Mass for them at Christmas time. Or that in their name you gave a sacred article to a Mission Chapel—Mass Bell... $5 Candles for yr. $20 Chalice... $40 Altar Stone... $10 Crucifix... $25 Vestments... $50 Picture... $25 Statue... $30 Altar... $75

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN A LOVED ONE in THIS MONTH OF NOVEMBER... SEND YOUR REQUESTS FOR MASSES TODAY BEFORE THE MONTH IS OVER.

I am enclosing $10 for CHRISTMAS-WEEK DINNERS for my neighbors in Bethlehem and Nazareth. Kindly remember my family and myself in your Christmas Masses.

Montclair Medical Missionary Assigned to African Hospital

PHILADELPHIA — Sister Jude Marie Garbaccio will leave soon from the headquarters of the Medical Mission Sisters here for her first foreign mission assignment — Holy Family Hospital, Berekum, Ghana, Africa.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix P. Garbaccio of St. Casian's, Upper Montclair, Sister Jude Marie first learned of the medical order while a student at Mt. St. Dominic Academy, Caldwell. After two years at Chestnut Hill College, Philadelphia, she enrolled at St. Joseph's Hospital

School of Nursing, Paterson. Upon receiving her R.N., she entered the Sisterhood.

THE HOSPITAL in West Africa to which Sister Jude Marie has been assigned was begun 11 years ago as a dispensary. Today there are 21 Medical Mission Sisters working in the Ghana area.

After her arrival in Ghana, Sister Jude Marie will go back to school again. This time, it will be to study Twi, the language spoken in Berekum. Her classmate, who arrived a few weeks ago, will be Sister Muriel Von Hoene of Rutherford, the hospital's new pharmacist.

In addition to the hospitals conducted by the Medical Mission Sisters in Ghana, Sisters from the American Province with headquarters in Philadelphia, staff hospitals and medical centers in India, Pakistan, Venezuela and the U.S.

Winter's Comin'

By June Dwyer

Christmas, winter, festivities are all taking their places as the Fall calendar takes a swing into the winter whirl.

Welcome

Winter is getting a big hello from the ladies. The Junior's Kempis of New Jersey are making it official with a party Nov. 29 at the Sun Dance Lodge, Caldwell, 4-8 p.m. Filomena Iannucci of Newark is chairman of the party which will benefit charity. The Women's Auxiliary of St. Casian's, Upper Montclair, is joining forces with the Holy Name Society for a Winter Prelude ball Nov. 20 in the school auditorium. Mrs. Edmund A. Trehella and John Regan are co-chairmen of the dance which is filling the building fund treasury.

Christmas novelties will be available at booths Nov. 14 when St. Cecilia's Altar-Scapular Confraternity (Englewood) holds a fair from 12 noon to 4 p.m. in the cafeteria. Mrs. James Walsh, president, has announced that Mrs. Helen Vreeland will take charge of refreshments. The Nativity Rosary, Fair Haven, will hold a bazaar Nov. 14 on the church grounds. Mrs. Phillip Carling is chairman assisted by Mrs. Charles Moeller.

St. Marie Goretti Circle of St. Joseph's Guild will hold a bazaar and Christmas sale Nov. 14, 10 a.m.-7 p.m. at the East Orange Woman's Club. Proceeds will go to the southern missions conducted by the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity. Mrs. Helen O'Neill is chairman. Rosarians of St. John Nepomucene, Guttenberg, will attend a performance of "The Egotist" at the Blackfriars Guild, New York, Nov. 14.

Agendas

The a' Kempis of New Jersey will meet Nov. 10 at 2:15 p.m. at Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, to hear Rev. Walter Gorski, director of the apostolate for the deaf in Bergen County, and Mrs. John Reilly, instructor of the deaf at St. Bridget's Center for the Deaf, Newark. The women will also hold a luncheon-bridge at the Robert Treat Nov. 16 at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. James J. Keegan of South Orange is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Hyland of Harrison. Proceeds will go to the social service fund.

The Women's Guild of Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry will meet Nov. 12 at 12:30 p.m. for a coffee hour in Murdoch Hall of Jersey City Medical Center. The meeting will feature the presentation of a portrait of Msgr. John L. McNulty, past president of Seton Hall University, to the medical-dental college. The painting was done by Mrs. Steffanelli. Mrs. Matthew Schimenti will present a piano program. The members will be conducted on a tour of the college following the meeting.

The Mariani of Kearny will meet Nov. 18 in the Hotel Plaza, Jersey City, at 7:30 p.m. Guest will be A. J. Battell of Roselle Park who will present an illustrated lecture on the Shroud of Turin. Plans for the future include a retreat Nov. 13-15 to the Carmel, Oakland. The November meeting of the Our Lady of Peace Rosary, New Providence, will feature a jewelry sale. Other programs are: December, Christmas party; January, European report from Rev. John Mee; February, fashion show; March, book report; April, good grooming; May, flower arrangements; June, elections.

The Essex County chapter of the Caldwell College Alumnae will meet Nov. 19 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. David J. O'Boyle of Nutley, president. Members will collect toys for Christmas distribution to orphans. Rev. Paul V. Collis of Sacred Heart, Bloomfield, will speak on the responsibilities of Catholic college graduates. Mrs. Michael Walczak of Rutherford will give a demonstration on making pieced quilts and braided rugs at the meeting of the St. Mary's Rosary, Rutherford, Nov. 16. The meeting will follow recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. in the church.

The Most Sacred Heart Council of Columbiennes, Wallington, will hold a first degree in honor of Mrs. Albin Wolak, past president.

Spiritually

St. Anne's Rosarians, Garwood, will hold a retreat Nov. 8-15 under the direction of Rev. Martin D. Burke, O.P., of St. Benedict's, Washington. The retreat will close with a Communion breakfast Nov. 15 after the 8:15 a.m. Mass. The Holy Name men will serve the breakfast. Sister Rose of Lima of the Maryknoll Sisters will speak on her experiences in Korea and the Philippines. At 8 p.m. on Nov. 15 the officers will be installed. Rosarians and the Mothers' Guild of Assumption, Morristown, have voted to keep an all-day vigil before the Blessed Sacrament the First Friday of each month to pray for peace. The women have also planned a sale in November and a Christmas party Dec. 7.

Acres High

The cards are stacked in the right direction for a successful card party for the Catholic Teachers' Sodality of Northern New Jersey Dec. 4 in the auditorium of St. Peter's College, Jersey City. The 8 p.m. bridge will be directed by Mrs. Wallace Berkowitz and Mary C. McClain. Proceeds will be used to complete a scholarship in honor of Rev. P. P. Rankin, S. J., former dean of St. Peter's.

St. Augustine's Rosary and Holy Name (Union City) are joining forces for a card party at Schuetzen Park, North Bergen, Nov. 24. James Rlenzo and Mrs. Henry Bernlohr are co-chairmen. Proceeds will be used for the parish building fund. The St. Matthew Guild of the Holy Trinity Missions will raise funds with a bridge Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in St. Vincent's Hospital coffee shop, Montclair. Mr. George C. Connell and Mrs. Robert V. Fingerhut are sharing the chairman's role.

Here 'n There

The Municipal Women's First Friday Guild reached two milestones recently: They celebrated their first birthday and returned the same slate of officers. Mrs. Frances Finley McKowne, president, will again be assisted by Mrs. Anne Coles, Marion Quinn, and Mrs. Clare McCarthy. Rosarians of St. Aloysius, Newark, also made milestone news with the return of their officers for the eighth consecutive term. Mrs. Florence Chadwick is the record-making president assisted by Mrs. Mary Kmetz, Mrs. Genevieve Debruske, and Mrs. Ann Dachowski.

William Walsh, New York attorney, spoke to the Catholic Woman's Club of Rutherford Nov. 10 on the problems of narcotics. Court Immaculata, CDA, installed seven new members recently at Our Lady of the Lake, Verona. Installed at the same ceremony were three members in Court Caritas, Bloomfield; and three members into Court Aloysius, Caldwell.

The Rosary-Altar Society of St. Francis, Haskell, held a calendar party Nov. 10 in the church hall. William Kelsey of the Lambs Club and the Catholic Actors Guild staged the production. Mrs. Cell Schaffer is assistant. Over 400 persons attended the Western

Sisters of St. Joseph Check Literary Tools

EDGEWATER — "Literature as a Prime Educative Force" was the theme of the sixth annual Teachers' Institute for the Sisters of St. Joseph of Newark held at Holy Rosary School here Nov. 11.

Rev. Thomas G. V. O'Connell, S.J., English professor at Fordham University, and Rita Beirne of Montclair, consultant for D. C. Heath Co., were the guest lecturers.

Speaking on intelligent enjoyment of literature, Father O'Connell said: "We must strive to have an understanding of what it means to share: (1) Christ; (2) our best selves as teachers; (3) our ancestors' finest moments and experiences as they have reached us through words." Miss Beirne demonstrated scientific experiments which can be performed by graders.

chairman, Our Lady of Peace, Fords; Sister M. Audrey and Sister M. Breda, St. Joseph's Juniors, Hoboken; and Sister M. Grace, St. Joseph's, Medford. Speakers in the sectional meetings included: Sister M. Constance of Spring Lake and Sister M. Jeanne of St. James High School, Penns Grove, cultural aspects of business education; and Sister Adelaide William, of Penns Grove on public relations.

SISTER TECLA of Mt. St. Joseph, Spring Lake, community school supervisor, introduced the program. Mother Athanasius, provincial, welcomed the Sisters and Sister Madeleine, provincial councillor, introduced the theme. Participants on a Shakespeare panel included: Sister M. Jose, SISTER Catherine Regina of Englewood spoke on contemporary Catholic poetry, while Sister Thomas of Seattle gave the capsule commentary of the day.

The Sisters' choral group was directed by Sister Marianna of St. Michael's Novitiate. Closing Benediction was offered by Rev. Francis Guterl, pastor of the host parish.

Junior Leaves the League

JERSEY CITY — Twenty-eight years is a long time for anyone to be called Junior. That's what the women of St. Francis Hospital Junior League, Jersey City, thought ... so they took action. From here on in the Junior will be omitted.

The ladies are celebrating the new "senior" status with a bundle of activity. First, they elected new officers to carry out their new maturity. Helen M. Nolan is president, assisted by Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. Robert Duffy, Marion Cullen, and Marge Kleen.

NEXT on the agenda is a Communion breakfast at the Hotel Plaza, Nov. 15, following the 8:30 a.m. Mass for the deceased members of the league in the hospital chapel. Rev. Cecil J. Goff, O.F.M., hospital chaplain, will celebrate the Mass. Rev. Robert T. Lennon of Our Lady of Victories, Jersey City, will speak. Mrs. John Moran, of Jersey City, a monologist, will present selections.

1959 Colliton Ratings Unlikely To Solve Clouded Title Picture

NEWARK — The mathematical vagaries of the Colliton System will decide what when they start handing out the NJSIAA sectional titles in another month and it appears that this year, no one will be satisfied with the result.

In the North Jersey "A" division, Pope Pius currently earns the nod on its 6-1 record, including a victory over Seton Hall, but may find itself trailing both the Pirates and three-times beaten St. Peter's when the ratings come out.

In North Jersey "B," Bayley-Ellard and Phillipsburg Parochial both own 5-1 marks and figure to win their last two starts. Thanks to their victory over Hackensack, the Bishops may have the most Colliton points.

Holy Rosary Nears Crown

JERSEY CITY — Holy Rosary moved within one game of the Hudson County CYO Grammar School Football League title with a 12-0 defeat of St. Michael's, Nov. 8 at Jersey City High School Field.

The Rosarians now need only turn back St. Andrew's on Nov. 15 at High School Field to clinch the honors. They have earned 10 points with five victories in six starts and lead second place St. Paul's by three. The Pirates were deadlocked, 6-6, by Mt. Carmel in the other game last week.

St. Andrew's is currently one of the hottest teams in the league, having won two and tied one in its last three outings. It is the only other team with a chance for the league title and this only if Holy Rosary loses its last two games.

Johnny Suto and Tommy Egar scored the touchdowns for Holy Rosary in the second half of the St. Michael's game. Suto, the league's leading scorer, picked off an Irish pass and raced 55 yards, while Egar plunged over from the two-yard line.

St. Paul's took a 6-0 lead on a touchdown by Joe Sack in the second period, but Mt. Carmel came back to tie it up on a four-yard run by John Lohrmann.

but the fact that they lost to the P-Burgers during the campaign could cancel this out.

WHATEVER THE NJSIAA decides, it is now pretty apparent that Bayley-Ellard has clearly earned the "B" title in the territory covered by The Advocate, while the "A" crown awaits the final settling of accounts between Pope Pius and Queen of Peace in the Tri-County Conference and between St. Benedict's and Seton Hall in the independent ranks.

The Bees, not eligible for state recognition as a member of the Independent Schools Athletic Association, have put themselves squarely in the mythical title picture with a 5-1 record. Should they tumble Oratory on Nov. 15 and then get by Seton Hall in the big one on Nov. 22, it would be hard to deny them the honor.

Joe Kasberger has really done a tremendous job in his 30th season at the Bees' helm. The latest outing was a 41-7 rout of Newark Central, in which Vince Liddy scored two touchdowns, one on an 80-yard pass interception. John Conforti went 65 yards for another and all the scores were on plays of 15 yards or more.

SETON HALL kept its foot in the title door with a 19-0 defeat of Immaculate after a scoreless first half. John DiQuollo scored on two plunges and Bob Pawlowski got the third on a four-yard run. This week, the Pony Pirates take their turn at Central.

Lou Chiarolanzio kept Bayley in the going with a pair of touchdowns himself and two passes to Frank Majorosky for scores in a 28-6 rout of St. Mary's. But Phillipsburg kept pace with a 20-0 defeat of Marian Catholic (Pa.). The Bishops face Don Bosco at home on Nov. 15 and then visit Netcong on Thanksgiving Day.

Continuing to ram its head against a machine, St. Peter's bowed to improving Memorial, 28-6, before the smallest crowd (5,500) to watch this duel since 1944.

ST. MICHAEL'S lost its last chance for any share of the "A" crown by incurring its fourth defeat of the season, 13-7, at the hands of Lowell (Mass.). This week, in addition to games already mentioned, St. Peter's visits St. Cecilia's, Valley Journeys to play St. Luke's, DePaul is at Pequannock, Immaculate hosts St. Joseph's and St. Michael's is at Phillipsburg.

Ivy League

Streak Ended, Delbarton Hopes to Lock Up Title

MORRISTOWN — Its 31-game undefeated streak now a matter of history, Delbarton will go about the business of locking up its ninth consecutive Ivy League title Nov. 13 when it visits neighboring Morristown School.

Actually, it appears that the Green Wave will have to share this ninth title with Newark Academy, just as it did the seventh two years ago. Newark polished off Carteret School, 33-0, on Nov. 6 to draw even with the Green Wave at 3-0-1 and winds up its campaign against Montclair Academy on the 13th. Blair Academy was the team which put Delbarton on the wrong end of a football score for the first time since Nov. 4, 1955. Unlike that previous loss, a 41-6 setback at the hands of Tower Hill of Delaware, this one was a heartbreaking 7-6.

A TOUCHDOWN by Tom James, plus an extra point by Tom Marino, did the trick for Blair in the first period. Delbarton came back to score on Frank Walsh's pass interception in the second period, but Frank Soriano failed in his rush for the extra point.

Oratory, meanwhile, put in its bid for a third place tie in the loop with a 20-14 defeat of Montclair Academy on Nov. 6. This ended the Rams' league season at 2-3, a record which will be shared by Montclair and Morristown if this week's contests follow the presumed pattern.

Passing accounted for the first two Oratory touchdowns after the teams had battled scorelessly in the opening period. George Zabrycki tossed 30 yards to Brian Kelly and Richie Robert b d one 22 yards to Ron Zazzara. John Sutorchio then added the final touchdown on a four-yard run.

Nolan Leads Scoring Race

NEWARK — Scoring 37 points in his last two games, Bill Nolan of Queen of Peace has taken over leadership in the North Jersey Catholic High School individual scoring race and will be a hard man to catch in the last three weeks of the season.

Nolan tallied 25 points against Don Bosco on Nov. 1, then came back with two touchdowns against Our Lady of the Valley on Nov. 8. This gives him 63 points for the season and a 14-point edge over second place Dan Hopkins of Bergen Catholic.

After Hopkins, the field is bunched with six other players showing 40 points or more. But, of this group, only Bobby Hackett of St. Luke's and John Conforti of St. Benedict's meet the type of opponents which might give them a chance to break loose for the kind of day they need to catch Nolan.

Ron Zazzara of Oratory has the end title all sewed up with 48 points, while the extra point race is still jammed as John DeNoia of Seton Hall and Steve Racz of Pope Pius have booted seven apiece, while Bill Zakhar of St. Peter's has six. Conforti has also scored six on rushes on passes.

FRANK GARGIULO

FRANK GARGIULO OF NORTH BERGEN HAS BEEN ONE OF THE PLEASANT SURPRISES ON THE NOTE DAME FOOTBALL TEAM THIS FALL.

AT ST. JOSEPH'S, WEST NEW YORK, FRANK SET AN ARCHDIOCESAN SCORING RECORD OF 148 POINTS AS HE DID ALL OF THE PASSING, PUNTING AND PLACED KICKING FOR THE BLUE JAYS, PLUS MUCH OF THE RUNNING AND TACKLING. HE ALSO LETTERED IN BASKETBALL THERE.

AT 190 POUNDS, FRANK IS SMALL FOR A COLLEGE FULLBACK, BUT WHEN HE HITS A LINE, OPPOSING PLAYERS ARE NOT LIKELY TO NOTICE HIS LACK OF SIZE FOR THE SPEED OF HIS DRIVE.

Seton Hall Meet Draws Powerful Field; Pirates, Hyland Top Catholic Entries

ELIZABETH — North Jersey Catholic entries will buck the strongest field ever assembled for a cross-country race in New Jersey when they take part in the first annual Seton Hall Spike Shoe Club invitation affair, Nov. 14 at Warinanco Park.

Perfectly placed, just one week prior to the NJSIAA championships, this meet will actually decide the overall state title. For where the teams and individuals will be scattered among four divisions in the NJSIAA meet, they will be packed into one 40-team race on the 14th.

Nor will there be anyone worth while missing. The state's leading teams—Seton Hall, St. Aloysius, South Side, Weequahic, Paterson East Side, Wayne, Bogota and Englewood—are all in the field. North Jersey Catholic teams will get a view of a possible surprise entry for the NJSIAA meet, St. Rose of Belmar.

INDIVIDUALLY, the list of champions is headed by Dave Hyland of St. Peter's (NB) (NJCTC and Central Jersey), Bob Yee of South Side (Newark), John Williams of Montclair (Big Ten and Essex), Leon Bell of Lincoln (Hudson), John Francola of Cliffside Park (NNJL), Bob Linders of Northern Valley.

Pirates at IC4-A

NEW YORK — Seton Hall is among the entries for the annual IC4-A cross-country meet at Van Cortlandt Park on Nov. 16. The dividual title easily in 10:39, but John Thornton, Daryl Russell, Jim Birdsall and Ted Stearns of the Green Wave followed him over the line and, then Dan Durant finished in eighth place. Delbarton had 22 points compared to 35 for Eastern's defenders.

Don Bosco Tech placed fourth in the Passaic County championships on Election Day, with Bill Marzloff placing likewise behind Hommes. East Side, Wayne and Passaic Valley edged the Rams. In the freshman race, George Tabback of Don Bosco was second and Jerry Lagos and Mickey Gourley of St. Mary's placed fourth and fifth.

Seton Hall, St. Aloysius and Marist were the only teams to show for the rain-drenched Marist invitation meet on Nov. 7 and all went home with live turkeys. The Pony Pirates won the meet, 28-32, over the Aloysians, but Kevin Hennessy of St. Aloysius was held medalist in 11:44.

Freshman honors went to Essex Catholic, whose Bob Carter toured the course in 5:52.9. The frosh had to be content with the conventional prizes of trophies and medals.

Saints Tie in Finale

KEARNY — St. Cecilia's wound up its 1959 soccer season with a 4-4 record by playing a scoreless deadlock with Bloomfield on Nov. 5.

Press Box Paragraphs Local Athletes Shine

The nomination of two former St. Michael's (UC) teammates, Lou Cordileone and Al Bansaavage, for the Football Writers Association All-American team spotlights the tremendous job being done on the gridiron by North Jersey boys this season.

Cordileone was touted as an All-American tackle even before the season began, thanks to his work in last season's Sugar Bowl game for Clemson. But Bansaavage has made the list without any previous fanfare, thanks to his play at guard for Southern California this year.

A knee injury almost ruined Cordileone's chances for All-American honors this season, but he came right back into the lineup and continued to do a smashing job on enemy runners. Bansaavage, who teams with the highly publicized Mike McKeever at guard for the Trojans, made his first headlines with the fine job he did against Ohio State.

IN ADDITION to these boys, there are at least three other area players who should be in line for some type of "All" mention when this season is over. They are Bob Scarpitto at Notre Dame, Johnny Amabile at Boston College and Dick Skinner at Holy Cross.

Scarpitto is probably the most underrated back in the country. A recent note from Notre Dame informed us that Bob leads the Irish in the following departments: scoring (36 points), rushing (181 yards), punting (37.8 average for 16 punts), pass catching (10 for 175 yards) and punt returns (four for 91 yards). He is also right up there in tackles (19) and passes broken up (two). Statistics do not always tell a player's worth, but Scarpitto's amazing versatility can be measured in no other way. Remember, too, that he is a fine passer (who played quarterback at Rahway High School) and his talents in that direction haven't even been tapped yet. We have a hunch Joe Kuharich will make more use of them next year as the Irish begin to catch on to his pro-type offense.

SKINNER LEADS the Holy Cross team in rushing this year, grinding out over 300 yards in the Crusaders' first six games, more than the team leader did last season. Richie caught headlines with his great game against Columbia, but otherwise, like Scarpitto, has done most of his work unnoticed.

Not in the same boat is Richie's former St. Peter's Prep teammate Johnny Amabile, who is one of the nation's leading passers at Boston College. Against Detroit recently, Johnny threw for three touchdowns and gained over 200 yards with his aerials. But for Joe Caldwell's presence at Army this year, Amabile would be a sure bet as All-Eastern quarterback.

In addition to these boys, there are Bob DeMarco at Dayton, Larry Hubbard and Jim Webster at Marquette, Warren Montgomery at Xavier, Nick Langone at Villanova and Frank Gargiulo (see cartoon) at Notre Dame, all doing a bang-up job for their schools. Add fellows like Ger Schwedes at Syracuse, Curt Merz at Iowa, Bob Oswandel and Al Vanderbush at Army from the rest of North Jersey's population and you can see why this area is such a happy hunting ground for football scouts.

BASKETBALL, TOO—if anything, the picture when basketball season opens will be even more clogged with North Jersey boys. First reports trickling across this desk indicate that hardly one Catholic college will be without its local represen-

Peacock Gunners Trip Engineers

JERSEY CITY — John Corrado shot a 286 to lead St. Peter's College to its third straight rifle victory on Nov. 1 over Newark College of Engineering.

The Peacocks, with a 3-1 record, will next meet C. W. Post and Rutgers in a triangular meet on Nov. 30 at New Brunswick.

Tri-County Loop

Lucie, Loughridge Duel Bears on League Title

NORTH ARLINGTON — A meeting of the tiny titans of the gridiron, Lee Loughridge of Queen of Peace and Jim Lucie of Bergen Catholic, here on Nov. 15 will determine whether the Tri-County Catholic "A" Conference pennant race is to be a two or three-team affair after this weekend.

The 133-pound Lucie and the 138-pound Loughridge are in a tight battle for all-conference quarterback honors, but their personal due is overshadowed by the grand climax toward which the loop is heading in its first official season, a climax which will come on Thanksgiving Day.

As things now stand, Pope Pius, following its 6-0 defeat of Don Bosco last weekend, has a 4-0 record and is in the driver's seat awaiting its Turkey Day clash here against Queen of Peace. The Irish, at 3-0, can even things up by defeating the Crusaders, but a loss would put both teams in a position to cash in should the Eagles bow in the finale.

BERGEN ALSO has a big game on the final Thursday of the season, entertaining a dangerous Don Bosco team, which somehow is mired in fifth place, despite holding even in the scoring column against league foes this season.

Walt Siefert raced 12 yards round end to climax an 83-yard march for Pope Pius' only score against Don Bosco. This was chiefly a defensive battle on a muddy field, with no other penetrations inside the 19-yard line. It marked the Eagles' fifth victory in seven starts, five of them by a touchdown or less.

In the other league game, St. Joseph's clinched no worse than a tie for fourth place with a 13-0 shutout of winless St. Cecilia's. Ralph LaMonte and Johnny Messina scored the touchdowns as the well-drilled Blue Jays piled up almost 300 yards on running plays.

BERGEN CATHOLIC and Queen of Peace successfully stepped outside league competition to quell DePaul and Our Lady of the Valley, respectively. The Crusaders had no trouble at all as Dan Hopkins scored three touchdowns in a 32-0 romp over DePaul. Lucie and Bob Van Horn also crossed the goal line.

It was a different story for the Irish, who yielded three touchdowns.

Carter Named Valley Coach

ORANGE — Bob Carter, former Seton Hall University star, has been named field and track coach at Our Lady of the Valley High School.

The Orange school is resuming the sport for the first time in four years, its last coach having been Frank Turner, at that time a student at Seton Hall and now the Holy Trinity mentor.

Carter is a son-in-law of Seton Hall coach Johnny Gibson and won the IC4-A 600-yard title in his college days.

Four Catholic Teams In Tourney Field

JERSEY CITY — Four Jersey City Catholic high schools will take part in the third annual Christmas Basketball Tournament, Dec. 26-Jan. 1, at St. Peter's College.

St. Aloysius, defending champion, is joined in the field by St. Michael's, St. Anthony's and St. Mark's, four public school teams complete the roster.

St. Mary's Joins

St. Peter's Field

JERSEY CITY — The inclusion of St. Mary's (Elizabeth) in the field for the first annual St. Peter's Christmas Basketball Tournament has turned the affair into an event of major importance for the 1959-60 season.

With Trenton Catholic and St. Peter's Prep already in the field, this marks the first time that these three perennial state powers have ever appeared together in a tournament field.

Also added to the field this week is Bayonne High School, annually one of the top public school teams in the state. Now coached by Warren Buehler, former Georgetown star, Bayonne has a veteran team with many of the players who forced St. Peter's down to the wire in the Hudson County race last winter.

St. Mary's, like Trenton and St. Peter's, has most of its 1958-59 cast, which posted a 17-4 record, back again this year, including Jim Manhardt, an All-North Jersey Catholic selection of The Advocate. Other veterans are Vince Kaszinski, Bobby Hallett and Phil Mishinski.

Pirate Booters Trounced Twice

SOUTH ORANGE — The Seton Hall soccer team lost its final chance of hitting the 500 mark for the campaign when it took two bad beatings last week at the hands of N.Y.U. and Fairleigh-Dickinson.

A largely foreign-born Violet team trounced the Pirates, 8-1, on Nov. 3, while the Knights took their measure, 5-0, on Nov. 5. This left the record at 3-6 with one game to go.

A Simple Solution

By Msgr. William F. Furlong

Because there will be no telephone calls from heaven to tell them, many young women go on endlessly asking themselves the question, "But how can I tell whether or not I have a vocation to the Sisterhood?" Really, there is no problem involved. The Church regards acceptance by a religious superior as sufficient evidence of a candidate's call to the religious life.

If you are among those who are wondering, you can put an end to it very quickly by writing to the Reverend Mother of your favorite community and by asking her whether or not she will accept you. Don't delay!

God Himself

The Church has always taught what St. Benedict taught when he wrote his famous Rule over 1,400 years ago, that whatever a religious superior commands "... is to be received as if commanded by God Himself."

We are told that the young Benedictine, St. Placid, was so convinced of this, that whenever he met his superior, he would greet him by saying softly, "Hello Jesus!"

By becoming a priest or Brother or Sister, God will let you know every moment of the day what He wants you to do. He will tell you through superiors. It is the best way to have a "placid," peaceful mind all day long.

Ambassadors

In the fourth volume of "Sermons" by the Cure d'Arc, he starts one of his discourses by saying, "Why, dear brethren, have I come into the pulpit today? What shall I say to you? Ah! I came on behalf of God Himself." That last statement sums up very nicely the whole meaning of the priesthood.

The divinely inspired St. Paul, speaking of priests, said in different words what St. John Vianney would say later, "We are Christ's ambassadors, . . . and God appeals to you through us" (II Cor. V-20).

Far Greater

St. Gertrude's feast is on Monday. In her life you will read that "... for 20 years Our Lord appeared to Gertrude at least once every day, except for a period of 11 days when He withdrew in punishment for a worldly conversation."

St. Gertrude's privilege was truly great, but infinitely greater is the priest's privilege to offer Mass.

St. John Vianney Said:

"After God, the priest is everything."

Bees to Host College Night

NEWARK — Rev. Edward B. Halton, O.P., dean of freshmen at Providence College, will be keynote speaker at the eighth annual Pre-College Guidance Conference of St. Benedict's Prep, Nov. 18 at Conlin Auditorium.

The program is designed to assist St. Benedict's students and their parents to select a college for future studies. It will open with a short formal meeting at which Father Halton will speak, outlining the problems of the student and the college admissions officer. Following this, representatives of 21 colleges will meet with the students and parents informally to discuss their respective schools. Rev. Philip C. Hoover, O. S. B., headmaster, has invited those colleges which St. Benedict's graduates have been enrolling over the past decade.

In preparation for the program, Rev. Mark W. Conroy, O.S.B., head of the guidance office, has interviewed seniors on their college plans.

Exiled Priest

Offers to Die For Hungarians

NEW YORK (RNS) — A 30-year-old priest presented himself on the front steps of the Russian UN delegation headquarters here and offered his life in exchange for the lives of 150 Hungarian teenagers awaiting execution in Hungary for their part in the 1956 uprising.

"I am ready to give up my life if the Hungarian government will release these boys," said Rev. Vazul Vegvary of Holy Ascension Church, Reobling, N.J. "They are all under 18 and will be executed as they reach their 18th birthdays."

He said the boys were sentenced to death after being tried for taking part in the abortive revolt at the ages of 12 and 14. Their execution has been held up, Father Vegvary explained, by a Hungarian law that forbids execution of a person under 18.

Father Vegvary, president of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Federation, took part in a demonstration in front of the building on the third anniversary of the uprising. Some 130 participants marched silently with black flags and the Hungarian colors.

He said he was a leader in the revolt and feels responsible for the children. "Those kids followed me because I was a priest," he said.

Mt. Carmel Stops Valley

ORANGE — The race in the Essex County Senior CYO Mixed Bowler League tightened up considerably on Sunday when Our Lady of the Valley 1, Orange, suffered its first three losses of the year after 12 straight victories.

Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Montclair, halted the Valley streak with a strong 2271 series that featured a 202 game and a 561 series by Anthony Dittore and a 209 game and 547 set by John Pando.

The triple defeat enabled three teams to crawl into a tie for second, two games behind Our Lady of the Valley.

STUDENT AID: Rev. Gerard Fagan, S. J. director of student personnel services at St. Peter's College, presents $250 scholarship awards to Cadet Sergeants Dominic Devaney and Michael Molino. Looking on are Cadet First Lieutenant Frank Jandrovitz, head of Scabbard and Blade, the military honor society which provided the scholarships, and Captain Jasper Johnson of the ROTC Staff. The money was raised at the annual Military Ball and is presented to two cadets entering junior year who have shown academic and military proficiency.

HALLOW-ANGELS: Pat Pelosi, center, is snowed under by some of the 1,000-plus cans of food collected by Our Lady Help of Christian CYO members from East Orange residents in a Halloween doorbell operation. This "trick" will provide a "treat" at St. Mary's Orphanage. With Pat are Joan Casey, left, and Terry Martino. School children and parishioners are still adding to the pile, which Rev. David A. Ernst, moderator, estimates will finally reach 2,000 cans.

Girls Triumph In Talent Show

IRVINGTON — Carolyn Paige of Christ the King and Constance Graziano of Our Lady of Sorrows, both in Jersey City, were the first county champions crowned in the 1959 archdiocesan CYO March of Talent, finals of which will be held Oct. 19 at St. Paul the Apostle.

Miss Paige, a vocalist, won the senior division and Miss Graziano the junior division in the Hudson County contest on Nov. 9 at the CYO Center. Other county finals were slated for Nov. 10 and 11 in Union, Essex and Bergen.

Following Miss Graziano in the junior division were two quartets, Joseph and John Pecoraro, Richard Cinciarrelli and Joseph Basta of Holy Rosary, and Ermino Baldassare, Albert Passante, Robert Zoccoli and Robert Wilusz of St. Paul of the Cross. Samuel Pagliarini, a vocalist from Holy Rosary, was fourth.

Entries are now being accepted through parish units for the annual Hobby Show, which will take place at the CYO Center in mid-December. Entries will be accepted in 50 specific categories, with blue ribbon awards for each and also a best-of-show prize.

Essex Council Meets

BELLEVILLE — St. Anthony's CYO here will be host to the regular monthly meeting of the Essex County Council of Catholic Youth, young adult division, on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. Dennis Hagerty of East Orange, council chairman, will preside and report on this week's national Catholic youth convention.

PUBLICATION of a statistical year book of the Holy See dates back to 1716.

Present Awards To Volunteers

EAST ORANGE — Certificates of appreciation were presented to members of the Junior Volunteers who participate in the Veterans Hospital by the National Catholic Community Service.

The presentations were made by Frederick Duff and Anita Brennan to 14 teenage volunteers and also to representatives of the various organizations who are affiliated with N.C.C.S. Miss Helen Platten, director of the volunteer program, addressed the group.

Any Catholic organization wishing to affiliate with the N.C.C.S. at Veterans Hospital is asked to contact Mr. Duff at 6315 Palisade Ave., West New York.

Essex Juniors Take Part In Doll-Dressing Contest

EAST ORANGE — Junior CYO girls from four Essex County parishes will participate in a doll-dressing contest, with the finished products to be donated to Catholic charities.

Blessed Sacrament, East Orange; St. John's, Orange; and St. Aloysius and Blessed Sacrament, Newark, are the four contenders for a list of prizes which is topped by a string of cultured pearls.

Each entrant must design and manufacture three distinct costumes for her doll: a girl's party outfit, an everyday outfit and a national (foreign) costume. The outfits must be easily removable so the doll can be dressed and the costumes changed by the girl who finally receives it.

THE PARISHES will hold their own contests later this month with the top three entries then being entered for the final judging on Dec. 12 at Blessed Sacrament, East Orange. Parish winners are invited to present their dolls the same night for judging for consolation prizes.

Contestants will be allowed to enter the dolls in the archdiocesan CYO hobby show, which takes place in December. However, the top three entries in the final judging will become the property of the contest committee.

GOD LOVE YOU

Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen

A THREE-WAY CHRISTMAS GIFT

In making an offering for any one of these four gifts for men and women, you help:

1) THE HOLY FATHER, because the offering goes to him for all the Missions;

2) YOUR FRIEND, because he receives more love in such a gift than in any other, since you had to love 1,500,000,000 pagans before you loved him or her;

3) YOURSELF, because you gain merit by aiding the Society for the Propagation of the Faith of which the Holy Father said "that it surpasses all other charities as . . . Heaven surpasses earth."

All Four Gifts are in gold-toned Hamilton finish with an enameled Society for the Propagation of the Faith insignia in red mounted on each. Each is boxed in blue-gray plastic. They are all in the very latest and most acceptable style.

Hasbrouck Heights Graymoor Priest Dies

GRAYMOOR — Rev. Theodore Zabelka, S.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zabelka of 167 Kipp Ave., Hasbrouck Heights, died Nov. 8 at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated in the Little Flower Chapel at Graymoor Nov. 11. Very Rev. Angelus Delahunt, S.A., Superior General, was celebrant. Deacon and subdeacon were Rev. Noel McSweeney, S.A., and Rev. Jerome Gallagher, S.A., both classmates of Father Theodore. Very Rev. Januarius Martiniello, S.A., delivered the eulogy. Interment was in the Friars Cemetery here.

Father Theodore came to Graymoor in September, 1936, and received the habit on Aug. 14, 1940. He made first profession of vows in 1941, and final vows in 1944.

After theological training at Catholic University of America, he was ordained Feb. 21, 1948, and then worked in the mission at Tsurumi Ku, Yokohama, Japan, from 1948 to 1950. He has been pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Golden, B. C., since 1950.

Rev. Finbar O'Meara
BRIGHTON, Mass. — A Requiem Mass for Rev. Finbar O'Meara, C.P., was offered Nov. 9 in St. Gabriel's Monastery Church here by Very Rev. Canisius Hazlett, C.P., Passionist Provincial.

Father Finbar, who died here Nov. 6, was well known as a mission preacher along the eastern seaboard. Born in Malden, Mass., he was professed a Passionist in 1923.

Sr. R. Gertrude, O.P.

NEWBURGH, N. Y. — Twice assigned to St. Paul's School, Greenville, Jersey City, Sister Regina Gertrude, O.P., died Nov. 4 at Mt. St. Mary's here.

A native of New Haven, Conn., Sister Regina Gertrude entered the Sisters of St. Dominic, Newburgh, on Sept. 8, 1911, and was professed on July 12, 1913.

During her religious life she was assigned to the Jersey City School in 1913 and again in 1918. She also served in the Diocese of Paterson, Archdiocese of New York, and the Dioceses of Trenton, Camden and Raleigh. A sister, Sister M. Rosaria, O.P., teaches at St. Peter and Paul School, Trenton.

The Mass of Requiem was offered Nov. 7 at Mt. St. Mary, here by the chaplain, Rev. D. Parent, O.P.

James J. Carroll

JERSEY CITY — A Requiem Mass for James J. Carroll, 119 Grand St., was offered Nov. 10

at St. Paul's Church, Greenville, Jersey City. He died Nov. 6. Mr. Carroll was founder of the N.J. Department, Catholic War Veterans, and a past president of the Hudson County Holy Name Federation. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Teresa Donelan Carroll.

FURTHERING SERVICE: This is the architect's concept of the new addition to Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth. Designed by Schmidt, Garden and Erickson of Chicago, it will provide many needed facilities and increase the hospital's bed capacity to 185.

in St. Paul's Church, Greenville, Jersey City. He died Nov. 6. Mr. Carroll was founder of the N.J. Department, Catholic War Veterans, and a past president of the Hudson County Holy Name Federation. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Teresa Donelan Carroll.

Mrs. Edward Carlson
LAKE HOPATCONG — The funeral of Mrs. Edward H. Carlson, Naritacong Ave., took place Nov. 9 with a Requiem Mass at Our Lady of the Lake Church, Mt. Arlington. She died Nov. 6. Surviving are two sons, two daughters, two brothers, including Rev. Alfred A. Lowe, pastor of St. Aldan's Church, Williston Park, L.I., three sisters and eight grandchildren.

Oriel Society to Give Concert on Nov. 29
NEWARK — Seumas MacManus, Irish writer, Neil Carlin, baritone, and Mary Kennedy, soprano, will be presented at the Oriel Society's meeting and recital at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 29 at Griffith Auditorium here.

Seumas MacManus will relate Irish folk tales; Neil Carlin will feature traditional songs of many lands and Miss Kennedy, of Paterson, will render operatic and sacred selections.

Mrs. Ruth Gardner of Maplewood is chairman. Frances Fitzsimmons of Newark is co-chairman and accompanist.

Makes 1st Ad Limina Visit in 16 Years
ROME — For the first time in 16 years Bishop Josip Srebrnic of Krk, Yugoslavia, has been able to make his ad limina visit to the Holy See. Ordinarily, such visits are required every five years but only now has the 83-year-old Bishop been given permission to temporarily leave the country by the communists.

Knights of Columbus
Bergen Chapter — "Operation Truth" is again sponsored by this chapter in its local area. It is designed to spread Catholic advertising in local papers in cooperation with the Supreme Council's Catholic advertising program throughout the country.

To raise funds for this project, the chapter is sponsoring a showing of films of the coronation of Pope John XXIII along with "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," Nov. 24 at the Fox Theater, Hackensack.

The chapter will set up a booth in the theater lobby that night, displaying Catholic literature, magazines, newspapers and pamphlets. The Bookmobile of St. Anthony's Guild, Paterson will be stationed outside the theater.

Bishop O'Connor General Assembly — The annual memorial service for deceased members will be held at 4 p.m. Nov. 15 at

Stress Functions Of University

LIMA, Peru — One of the essential functions of a university is to awaken in its students a "profound awareness of social problems," a statement adopted here by the Organization of Catholic Universities of Latin America said.

The statement added that the student must be prompted to use his power in support of the common good.

Labeled the "Lima Declaration," the statement was issued at the close of the organization's third congress. It was attended by officials of 16 of the 20 Catholic universities in Latin America.

The statement also declared that education must respect individual rights, as well as those of families, of the Church, the state and other social institutions.

Magr. Alfredo Silva, rector of the Catholic University of Santiago, Chile, was elected president of the organization which decided to hold its next congress in 1962 in Havana.

Holy Rosary School To Be Dedicated

ELIZABETH — With Archbishop Boland officiating, the new school in Holy Rosary parish here will be blessed and dedicated, and the cornerstone laid at 3:30 p.m., Nov. 15. Rev. Patrick J. Gerrity is pastor.

Ranging along First St., the new building is a one-story structure with exterior of masonry and glass. There are nine classrooms, administrative offices, health room and an auditorium seating 800 persons, in addition to various utility rooms.

To make way for the new building, the old school, built in 1887, and the old church, in 1886, were torn down last March. The old church had been used as a social hall since 1930 when the present church was built.

SINCE THE razing of the two buildings, the children of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades have attended the public school. The first and second grade classes were held in a house on the church property, and the seventh and eighth grade children attended classes in temporary classrooms set up in the basement of the church.

These temporary arrangements came to an end with the beginning of the Fall term. Formerly the school accommodated 353 pupils; the new building will take care of 500.

The children are taught by the Sisters of Charity of St. Elizabeth.

Alexian Brothers Adding to Hospital

ELIZABETH — Construction of a new five-story addition to Alexian Brothers Hospital will begin shortly, it was announced this week by Brother Constantine, C.F.A.

A quiet groundbreaking ceremony was held Oct. 8 with Rev. Edgar Verhoeft, chaplain, blessing the site on E. Jersey St. The ceremonies were attended by officials of the Alexian Brothers Hospital Foundation, the medical staff, the Hospital Ladies' Guild and the Brothers.

The five-story structure and basement will contain facilities for a large conference and meeting room in the basement, a large laboratory, blood bank, isolate and pharmacy on the first floor; five operating rooms, surgeons' lounge, dressing room and a 10-bed recovery room on the second floor; and 14 beds on each of the third and fourth floors, giving the hospital a total of 185 beds. The fifth floor will contain seven private rooms for interns.

The addition costing $1,247,658, has been designed by Schmidt, Garden and Erickson of Chicago. Architectural supervision will be by Joseph A. Allen of Elizabeth.

Finances for the new construction will continue to be raised through efforts of the Hospital Foundation, Ladies' Guild, Employees Association and medical staff.

The Alexian Brothers have maintained the hospital in Elizabeth for the past 67 years.

TV Executive Recalls Start Of Bishop Sheen's Show

ST. LOUIS — One of the most enthusiastic supporters of Bishop Sheen's return to the TV camera, is James L. Caddigan, vice president and general manager of station KPLR-TV here.

Seven years ago, he started Bishop Sheen on what was to become one of the most remarkable careers in television history.

THE STORY of that career had its beginnings one summer afternoon when Caddigan, then vice president in charge of programming and production for the now defunct DuMont Television Network, called at the Bishop's home. Trade talk had it that the Auxiliary Bishop of New York had come up with an idea for a television show.

The reports were true, the Bishop admitted. The idea had been offered to both CBS and NBC but they felt a religious television program was a poor risk.

Caddigan didn't think so. He had already come into contact with the Bishop during various public service programs that the network had telecast for the New York Archdiocese. DuMont was more than willing to go ahead with the Bishop's idea for a regular weekly show.

"Of course, there were the usual problems," Caddigan recalled. "The Bishop was convinced that the series should be telecast from a church pulpit, beginning with St. Patrick's Cathedral. We were convinced that a studio set of his study would provide a more personal approach."

THE TWO SAT down and talked it over, Caddigan explaining the advantages of an informal, individual type of presentation. Two months after the first meeting in the Bishop's study, he was ready for his initial telecast.

Caddigan went out on a limb and scheduled the Bishop in a time slot occupied by the then "king of television," Milton Berle.

As was to be the pattern throughout three years of telecasting, the Bishop arrived about a half-hour before show time. There was to be no rehearsal. Instead, he secluded himself behind the studio set, and began quietly walking up and down, occasionally glancing at what Caddigan called a "skeleton road map" of topic headings. He was signaled to take his place in the set. The cameras dollied in and focused. "Life Is Worth Living" had begun.

The success of the program was completely due to Bishop Sheen himself, Caddigan feels. "He is not only a tremendous speaker and wonderful person, but an intelligent performer as well. He utilized every bit of mechanics in the television business. He had a marvelous sense of staging, technique, lighting and theatrical production."

BUT THE QUALITY which most amazed the television trade, and particularly the crew of stagehands on the show, was the Bishop's sense of timing.

"There was this clock on front of the camera," Caddigan recounted. "Each week he would bet the camera crew and stagehands that he would finish his talk exactly on time."

"If he did, then the crew would have to contribute $2 to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. If he didn't finish on time, then he would give them a pair of his Rosary beads."

"The Bishop never lost a single bet."

Order Catholics To Pay Damages To Protestants

BOGOTA, Colombia (NC) — The national secretariat of the Colombian Bishops has denounced destruction of Protestant property by Catholics in La Plata and called on them to pay for the damage.

At the same time the secretariat said that Protestant charges that the Catholic pastor in La Plata incited Catholics to violence is a "pure invention."

It also said that the amount of damage reported in the Protestant Confederation of Colombia bulletin is exaggerated.

The statement of the Under-Secretariat of Faith and Morals of the Permanent Secretariat of the Colombian Bishops attributed the incident to "a proselytism that wants at any cost to gain a foothold among a Catholic population."

Following an investigation in La Plata the under-secretariat reported that on Sept. 3 a group of Catholics broke the bricks to be used in building a chapel of the Protestant Missionary Christian Alliance, demolished a three-foot wall and destroyed a nearby tomato field belonging to a Protestant. It estimated damages at about $650.

Expected to draw 750,000 spectators, the eight-hour Passion Play will be staged from May to September next year.

THE FOUR great fathers of the West are St. Ambrose (340-397), St. Augustine (354-430), St. Gregory the Great (540-604) and St. Jerome (340-420).

Seminarians, Those Making Holy Hour Given Indulgences

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Two separate decrees of the Sacred Apostolic Penitentiary have conceded indulgences to be gained by seminarians and by those who make the Holy Hour.

Both decrees were published in the most recent "Acta Apostolicae Sedis" (Acts of the Holy See), official organ of the Holy See, although dated Aug. 13, 1959.

The decree affecting seminarians consists of three prayers, one each in honor of the three Persons of the Holy Trinity, to be said for their parents. A plenary indulgence is attached to recitation of the prayers if recited once daily for a month, and a partial indulgence of 500 days is attached to each single recitation.

THE SECOND decree grants a plenary indulgence to all who make the Holy Hour—an hour of prayer in church—on the usual conditions of confession, Communion and prayers according to the intention of the Pope.

A translation of the seminarians' prayers for their parents contained in the Sacred Apostolic Penitentiary's decree follows:

I. To God the Father:

Antiphon: I bend my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Response: From whom all fatherhood in heaven and on earth receives its name (Eph. 3, 14-15).

Prayer: O God, who hast commanded us to honor father and mother, we pray Thee that our parents, who humbly serve Thee, may be immune to every adversity and merit with Thy help attainment of eternal reward. Thou who livest and reignest forever and ever. Amen.

II. To God the Son:

Antiphon: Let thy father and thy mother be joyful.

Response: And let her rejoice that bore thee (Prov. 23, 25).

Prayer: Lord Jesus Christ, who, subject to Mary and Joseph, grew in age, wisdom and grace: grant we beseech Thee that, through their merits, while we guard the divine vocation according to Thy designs, we may learn goodness, discipline and wisdom, to the exultation and joy of our parents. Thou who with the Father and the Holy Spirit livest and reignest forever and ever. Amen.

III. To the Holy Spirit:

Antiphon: The parents of Jesus took Him to Jerusalem.

Response: To present Him to the Lord (Luke 2, 22).

Prayer: O Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of our parents, and make it so that, by their example, many faithful may be glad to give their sons to the Lord, for the glory of Thy name, for the welfare of the Church and for the salvation of souls. Thou who with the Father and the Son livest and reignest forever and ever. Amen.

THE SECOND decree granting a plenary indulgence for making the Holy Hour is as follows:

To the faithful who, in any church or public oratory or (for those who have the legitimate use of it) private oratory, with devotion privately observe for an entire hour the pious devotion commonly called "Holy Hour," recollecting on the Passion and Death of Our Lord Jesus Christ, and meditating and venerating His immense love which prompted Him to institute the divine Eucharist, there is granted the plenary indulgence, over and above the partial indulgence of 10 years (cf. Enchiridion Indulgentiarum, ed. 1952, n. 168), provided that, having gone to confession and received Communion, they pray according to the intentions of the Supreme Pontiff. All things to the contrary notwithstanding.

Holy See Praises Linguists For Promoting Use of Latin

ROME (NC) — The Holy See has praised an international conference of linguists for promoting the use of Latin and thus "resisting the dangers of an age too fond of technology."

The praise came in a message to the fifth International Conference of Linguists on behalf of Pope John XXIII, by Cardinal Tardini, Vatican Secretary of State.

A total of 73 professors representing 40 European universities participated in the conference at the Pontifical Gregorian University.

The letter hailed Latin as the "most noble language of Romans, guardian of an ancient rich culture, artificer of clear understanding, elevator of true humanism and precious bond of communion among peoples."

THE CONFERENCE also heard an address by Rev. Emilio Springhetti, S.J., of the university's faculty, on the use of Latin there.

Father Springhetti said the university has about 150 professors of 22 different nationalities, and about 2,800 students of 79 nationalities.

He said the babble of languages in the corridors before classes turns into harmony in the classrooms, where "you will hear one language only, understood and spoken by everybody."

"No other language," he continued, "would have the same prestige of tradition, the same universality placing it beyond all national pride and the same usefulness within certain subjects."

"In fact, the whole formulation of scholastic philosophy, of theology and of Canon Law has been made in Latin, and the corresponding terminology in the national languages — being derived from the Latin terminology — cannot have the full applicability or authenticity of the original."

Far Eastern Faculty To Attend Meeting

NEWARK — Faculty members and a fellowship student of Seton Hall University's Institute of Far Eastern Studies will attend the 25th annual foreign language conference at New York University on Nov. 14.

Prime topic for discussion will be the use of tape-recording laboratories in language studies.

St. Vincent de Paul Officers Installed

JERSEY CITY — Vincent Seely, newly elected president of the Particular Council of Jersey City, St. Vincent de Paul Society, and his fellow officers were installed Nov. 11 at a meeting in St. Joseph's School Hall here.

Other officers are Thomas McGivern and Leo McGrath, vice presidents; Edward M. Hickey, secretary; and George E. Davis, treasurer. Davis was named chairman of the salvage bureau committee, and McGivern, chairman of the camp committee.

Rev. Harold Fitzpatrick, pastor of St. Bridget's, is spiritual director.

Holy Trinity Holds Family Book Sale

PASSAIC — A Catholic Family Book Sale will be held Nov. 15 and 16 in Holy Trinity School hall here. More than 1,000 books of all types, including titles for children, will be on display.

The sale will take place on Nov. 15 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Nov. 16 from 3:30 to 4:30 and from 7 to 9 p.m.

"There Are Really Two Diseases: Leprosy, And Being A Leper!"

Leprosy is terrible enough, slowly eating the body away, feature by feature and limb by limb.

But in most mission lands, "being a leper" is by far the greater torture. Driven away from all they have and love... objects of screaming horror... untreated... unbundaged... unfed... chased... hopeless... these victims are considered human only in that they are allowed to keep suffering.

Leprosy itself when treated early can be entirely arrested. And by arresting it, missionaries are gradually relieving these poor sufferers of the cruel agonies of "being a leper."

Please help bring Christ's mercy to the leprosy. A dollar's worth of sulphone arrests an ordinary case.

Developers to Erect Convent And Rectory at Old Bridge

OLD BRIDGE (PFS)—Developers of the 194-house Middlewood at Old Bridge community on Bentley Ave. off Route 18 here will erect a convent and rectory for a new church now being built on adjoining property.

Hedy Heights Construction Co. of Clifton reports the sale of six plots off Bentley Road to St. Thomas Church, which is constructing a new church building and school within the Middlewood property for completion by next summer. Registrations for the new school will be limited.

The Middlewood developers, who offer Cape Cod and split-level homes, will erect a Cape Cod as a convent for the nuns and a split-level house will be built as a rectory for Father French, the parish priest. A third lot will be developed as an access road to church and school, while the three remaining plots will be set aside for future church use.

The convent and rectory will be completed by Hedy Heights Construction Co. simultaneously with the church and school.

The Cape Cod and split-level dwellings being erected for St. Thomas Church will be identical to homes offered at Middlewood priced from $14,990 to $16,990 on fully-landscaped plots 65 by 100 feet and larger in an area which has city sewers and all improvements.

New Valley Fair Superama Opens Nov. 10 in Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (PFS)—The Valley Fair food and discount department center opened Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 372 Broadway here with an array of stars and entertainment to herald the event.

The grand opening celebration headlined the international famous Dancing Waters.

Stars of screen, TV and radio were on hand throughout the grand opening.

The giant operation, combining a huge supermarket and a discount center under one roof, is housed in an impressive Colonial building and features a paved parking area for 1,500 cars. The new Valley Fair will include complete clothing for men, women and children, cosmetics, housewares, auto supplies, sporting goods, cameras and dozens of others plus a complete food super-market.

ST. ALBERT the Great was the teacher of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Would Count Parochial Students For Public School Subsidies

HARRISBURG (RNS)—Pennsylvania's House of Representatives defeated 124 to 58, a bill to count parochial school pupils for public school subsidy purposes in the state.

Parochial schools would have received nothing in state funds had the bill been adopted, but the revised system would have meant more state aid for public schools in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and other heavily populated centers.

Rural legislators fought and defeated the bill because their communities would have received little or nothing more for public education in the state's subsidy program if this measure had been adopted.

Building homes is my business and as a businessman I build homes for profit. That's how I earn my living. But when I sell a home to a family, there's a lot more at stake for me than simply making a profit. My reputation as a builder is part of every house I build. And after building about 600 homes in the northern New Jersey area in the past 12 years, I think my reputation is on a pretty high level. I intend to keep it that way.

That's why I'm particularly proud of the new Bi-Level Ranch model I've introduced at Preakness Valley Estates. It's a good home for the money, it's spacious inside and out and the construction is sound and sturdy. I invite your inspection of the Bi-Level Ranch because I believe there is no better buy on the market today than these homes.

'Another Harmer Project'

CLIFTON (PFS) — "Another Harmer project," a byword in the building industry for the past 10 years, has become the trademark of builder Harold Kramer here.

Active in the Kramer Lumber and Supply Co. of Clifton and currently president of the Home Builders Association of Northern New Jersey, Kramer has erected thousands of homes and apartments throughout the State over the past decade.

A native of Passaic, where he still resides and actively participates in philanthropic work, Kramer got his start in the building business in 1939 when he constructed a 60-unit F.H.A.-insured garden-type apartment in Clifton. The apartment was one of the State's first F.H.A. insured rental projects to go up after the depression.

In 1941 he erected a war-housing project in North Arlington followed by the construction of two-, four- and six-family housing units throughout the State during and after World War I. Kramer later engaged heavily in the construction of government-insured 608 garden-apartment projects throughout Bergen, Passaic and Essex Counties.

The Clifton builder and lumber company executive entered the residential development field in 1950 and shortly thereafter was born the "Another Harmer Project" trademark with which he has been associated for the past 10 years. Since that time Kramer has erected more than 5,500 homes priced from $10,500 to $50,000 in communities throughout the State. Included are such major developments as:

Swimming River Acres in West Long Branch, New Woodland Park in Raritan Township, Rolling Ridge in Ramsey, Rolling Ridge in Hillsdale and Rolling Ridge in Cresskill, Longview and Longview North in Harrington Park, Roedel Cottage Park in Paramus, Haddonfield Manor in Clifton, Skyline Heights in Haddonfield, and Emerson Park in Emerson.

Two developments currently under construction and highlighted by the Kramer organization are the Longview and Longview North tracts on Lafayette Ave. off Schraalenburgh and Knickerbocker Roads in Harrington Park.

At Longview, Kramer is associated with Vincent Cucciarra in construction of 113 luxury ranch, split-level and two-story homes priced from $30,850. Bier-Higgins Realty Associates of Saddle River serve as sales consultants.

Winner of the Practical Builder "Oscar," the building industry's highest award, the Longview community is well under way—with more than 25 families currently residing there. Another 20 homes are being readied for delivery through the late Fall and into the winter.

The Longview North tract—located about a quarter mile above Longview—is being developed by Kramer in association with Michael Scrofani. Lester Handelsman and Co., Teaneck realtor, is sales agent.

New Model at Longview N.

HARRINGTON PARK (PFS)—The furnished Sherwood, a six-room, two-bath mezzanine ranch model priced from $28,900, makes its debut this weekend at the 32-house Longview North community on Lafayette Road off Schraalenburgh and Knickerbocker Roads here. Lester Handelsman and Co. of Teaneck serves as sales agent.

Longview North is being developed as another Harmer Project by Harold Kramer in association with Michael Scrofani. The builders offer the homes on wooded, fully-landscaped plots 100 by 125 feet and larger.

Homes can be purchased with liberal conventional financing terms for late fall and winter delivery dates.

Rudolph L. Novak, Clifton architect, designed the Sherwood mezzanine ranch model which has an exterior of cedar shakes and partial brick. A covered entry with brick planter leads into a ground-level foyer with sliding-door guest closet. Up one level overlooking the foyer is an 18 by 15 wrought iron railed living room with picture window, an 11-1/2 by 11 dining room with double window, and a 13 by 12-1/2 kitchen with breakfast area, door leading to the yard, built-in wall oven and countertop range, dishwasher, broom closet, hardwood cabinets in natural finish, and Formica work counter.

The bedroom wing on the same level includes a 15 by 12 master bedroom with an adjoining colored ceramic tile bath with stall shower, a 12 by 11 second bedroom, a 12 by 10 third bedroom, and a second ceramic tile bath with built-in Formica vanity, linen closet, full wall mirror, and tub with shower. A second linen closet is just off the bath in the hall.

The lower level of the house just off the foyer includes an optional 28-1/2 by 14 family room, a 12 by 9 utility room with laundry tub, and a 25-1/2 by 22-1/2 2-car garage. The garage has an entry into a lower level hall.

Rolling Ridge Opens New Development

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP (PFS)—Rolling Ridge at Washington Township, a community of 72 split-level and ranch homes on Cleveland Ave. off Washington Ave. between Forest Ave. and Pascack Road, is being opened this weekend as another Harmer Project by Harold Kramer in association with Richard Zamore.

Bier-Higgins Realty Associates of Saddle River serve as sales consultants for the homes, which are priced from $23,490.

The homes will be available with minimum down payment conventional financing terms for late winter delivery dates.

The builders also developed Rolling Ridge at Ramsey, Rolling Ridge at Hillsdale, and are currently erecting a 30-house community known as Rolling Ridge at Cresskill.

The homes at Washington Township are offered on fully landscaped plots one-quarter acre and larger, with some lots running as deep as 200 feet.

Making its debut this weekend will be the Berkshire split-level model with seven rooms and 1-1/2 baths. The Sherwood ranch model will be ready for public showing next weekend.

The Berkshire has an exterior of optional brick and cedar shingles and is available in five exterior front elevations from plans by architect Rudolph L. Novak of Clifton. It was furnished by Greenbaum Brothers of Paterson.

Entry is up a stoop with overhang. The main level has a 21 by 12-1/2 living room with Colonial picture window and an optional brick fireplace with hearth, 11-1/2 by 11-1/2 dining room with twin windows, and a 12-1/2 by 11-1/2 kitchen with twin windowed breakfast area. The kitchen also has a built-in wall oven and a countertop range with exhaust fan, red brick cabinets and Formica counter top.

The upper level includes three bedrooms and a bath with entry from either the hall or master bedroom. This level has a 15 by 11-1/2 master bedroom with two closets, an 11-1/2 by 10 second bedroom and a 10 by 10 third bedroom with sliding-door closets, and a bath with vanity, sliding-door medicine cabinet and a tub with shower.

At the present time parochial school children in Washington township attend St. Andrew's in Westwood.
